Ohio Senate Passes Tax Hike Bill

House Gets $300 Million 'Package'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A big tax hike bill to raise at least $300 million and perhaps much more in new state revenue cleared the Ohio Senate shortly before midnight Wednesday after a grueling day of debate and political byplay.

A breakdown on what the Senate - approved tax bill will mean to East Liverpool, Wellsville and other school systems in the county will be found on Page 9.

A 24-9 vote sent the big money bill — including an increase in the sales tax—to the House. Democrats opposed the administration bill generally but three left ranks to vote "yes" and two Republicans dissenting didn't follow the lead of their party. The GOP dominates the upper chamber 23-10.

The maverick Republicans were Sens. Robert T. Turner R-14 Marion and David S. Holcomb R-6 Dayton. Holcomb said he opposed the tax proposals because they weigh heaviest on lower income groups. Turner had major objections all the way around and claimed, among other things, the new taxes will provide millions for the administration to "pad" the state's general fund. Revenue assertedly would go for education but is not specifically earmarked for that purpose, Turner said.

Twenty-nine time-consuming roll call votes were required on the bill after Democrats invoked a Senate rule requiring—on the demand of any five senators—separate votes on each of 18 taxing and appropriations proposals.

There were nine votes on amendments, with only five GOP changes winning approval, plus a vote on an emergency clause and one on the bill itself.

Democratic supporters were Sens. Oliver Ocasek D-27 Northfield, Summit; Bishop Kilpatrick D-32 Trumbull, and M. Morris Jackson D-21 Cleveland. Ocasek, an educator known statewide in the field, hailed educational provisions of the bill and said he must support legislation to finance them "to be consistent."

The bill itself combines a series of tax increases and appropriations of about $276 million in the 1967-69 biennium for all forms of education. The appropriations would increase spending on education in the two-year bookkeeping year to a record $1.2 billion.

But estimates of the tax revenue range from an estimate of $308 million by Sen. Oakley Collins R-18 Lawrence, the chief sponsor, to as high as $600 million by former state tax commissioners and others who testified on the bill before a Senate committee.

Democrats complained that it was unconstitutional and in violation of Senate rules to combine two subjects —education and taxation—in a single bill. Republicans cited precedents which were upheld in the courts.

But Turner said, "There were eight or nine bills in this package, yet we only had the chance to vote once." He mentioned a program of aid to parochial schools to the tune of $20 million—listed in the bill as auxiliary services—"only one of

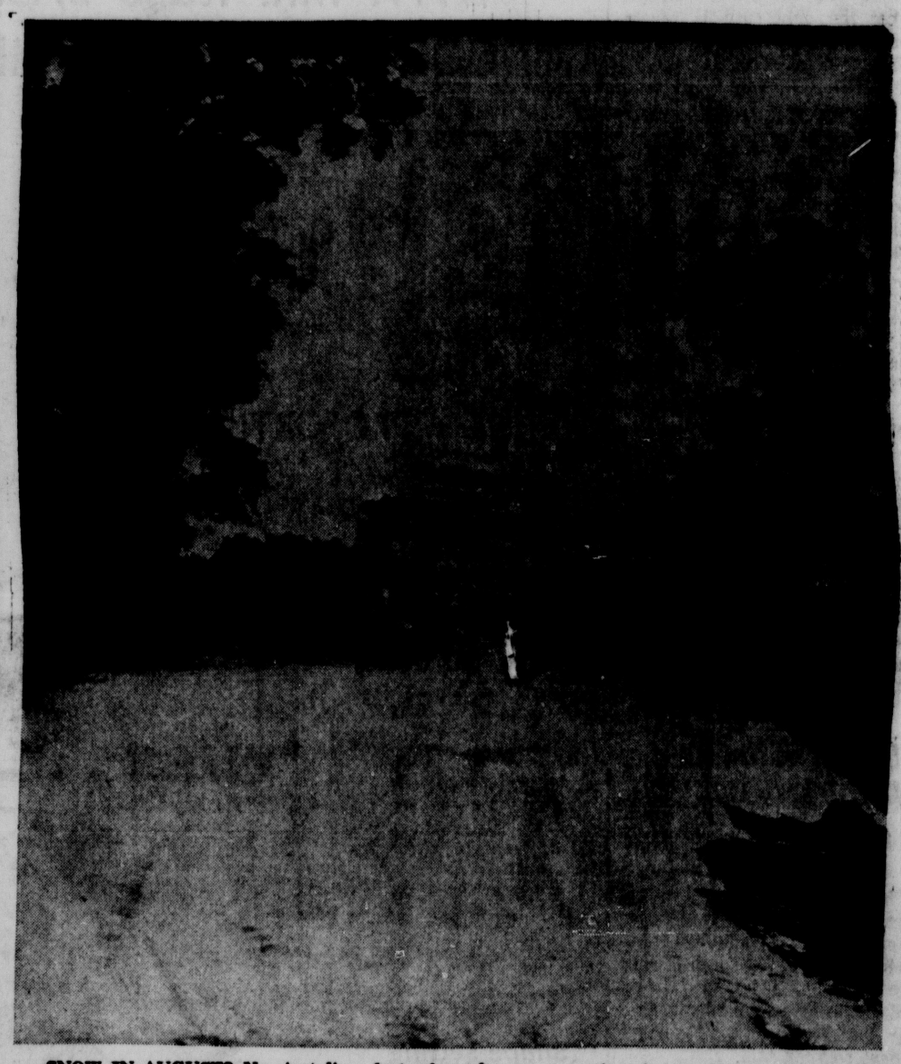
Cleanup Follows Area Storm

THE FORCE OF THE STORM which lashed the district Wednesday evening is illustrated by this uprooted tree, which toppled onto the home of Mrs. Ada Wright of 208 California Ave., Chester.



SNOW IN AUGUST? No, just lime lost when cleanup operations began this morning at the site of a truck mishap on the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd. Wednesday night which blocked traffic for nine hours.

Probe Picks Up Speed In Riots Cause

By The Associated Press

The tide of violence continued to ebb today while congressional investigations into the cause of the rioting gained momentum.

As the street action cooled, debate was joined in Congress Wednesday over the importance of the role of militant Negro leaders in the recent violence.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., asserted the rioters "follow tactics used by the Communist party the world over."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey called in Detroit for a Marshall Plan for America's impoverished areas as one means of preventing recurrences of the rioting.

In Milwaukee, police fatally shot a Negro youth Wednesday night. Police said he and three other youths failed to obey a police order to halt. Instead, police said, a firebomb was thrown and the group fled.

The death brought the toll in the Wisconsin city to four since the strife began Sunday.

There was more violence in the Long Island community of Wyandanch, N.Y., but it appeared to be less severe than a similar outbreak Tuesday night. Some fires flared and there were rock- and bottle-throwing incidents.

The Providence, R.I., police reported only one rock-throwing incident, as 21 Negro antipoverty workers helped to curb the violence that had struck the two previous nights.

In calling for his Marshall Plan, Humphrey did not give any details. He also urged creation of councils for civil peace at state and municipal levels to deal with riots.

"Our nation is in trouble," the vice president said in his speech before a national convention of county officials. "The first thing is to re-establish law and order in this country by whatever legal means it takes to do it."

In Washington, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., warned that riot inquiries must look at the social and economic condi-

Stays Mattevi Action

Court Holds Up Appointments To 2 Posts At Home

LISBON — The Seventh District Court of Appeals has stayed until further order the appointment of Joseph and Rosemond Mattevi as superintendent and matron of the Columbiana County Home.

County commissioners, by a 2-to-1 vote last Thursday, named the Mattevis to the positions, effective at noon Aug. 15. They rside on Route 172 across from the county farm.

THE COURT'S order was part of an alternative writ of mandamus allowed Tuesday at Youngstown on the motion of Robert W. and Gladys M. Boyce. They have been acting superintendent and matron under provisional appointment since October 1965. Richard D. Kennedy, Lisbon attorney, represents them.

The writ orders the Ohio Deparment of State Personnel to certify on an eligible list "the names only of the Boyces as the only eligible and qualified applicants" for the two positions.

It also orders the county commissioners to appoint the Boyces "and to do that which the law requires them to do or to show cause before this court why they have not done so."

Both defendant respondents—the county board and the state department—have until Aug. 15 to reply.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce gave the following resume in their petition which goes back to April 1 when the commissioners asked the state to certify a list of eligible names for the positions of superintendent and matron.

A NOTICE of the examination was issued April 5 by the state and listed as a qualification of the superintendent "five years experience in business or institutional management, which must include farming experience."

The Boyces were the only ones to pass the April 28 examination, taken also by the Mattevis and Mr. and Mrs. Russell V. Phillis, who held the County Home positions before the Boyces.

On May 9, the state certified to the commissioners an eligible list containing only the names

In Flash Blow

Power Cut Off, Traffic Snarled

It was cleanup time in East Liverpool and some nearby communities today in the wake of a flash thunderstorm Wednesday evening which unleashed heavy winds.

Power service was disrupted in some areas and traffic snarled as the result of falling trees and the overturning of a tractor-trailer rig.

CLEANUP AND repair work were in their final phases here after high winds struck in the East End and Thompson Hill areas during the rainstorm, felling trees and limbs that broke electric lines and causing an interruption in cable television service.

The most severe damage occurred in the Oakland section of East End, where a large tree toppled, snapping 4,000 - volt lines of the Ohio Power Co. and hampering traffic for four hours or more. The tree fell onto Pennsylvania Ave. near Oakland Ave. at 6:37 p. m.

The utility said it cut off service in the area for five minutes —from 8:30 to 8:35—to expedite repairs. At 8:35, service was restored for all except 136 homes in that district.

City firemen were called to the scene and remained on standby duty from 6:54 to 11:03 p. m.

Pennsylvania Ave. traffic was blocked completely immediately after the tree was felled. About 10 last night, limited traffic movement was restored. At 7 this morning, two-way traffic was moving normally.

THE SECOND major power outage was timed at 5:37 when lighting hit a pole at the junction of E. 2nd and Washington St., knocking out lines running from Ohio Power's 2nd St. substation. The outage was restored at 7:18.

The company said the lightning bolt disrupted service for approximately 1,550 homes, primarily in the West End section and the western section of the downtown area. Some traffic light circuits in the area also were affected.

Tree limbs also were reported felled in the Maine Blvd.-Vine St. area of Thompson Hill and along the River Rd.

The Pennsylvania Ave. tree fall broke the main cable of the

Showers And Cooler Due Tonight, Friday

More showers are due today through Friday, with cooler weather tonight.

The forecast could be accepted routinely except for the fact that Wednesday's predicted "showers" turned into a storm which caused all kinds of unexpected trouble here and in the district.

Let's hope the weatherman sticks to the script this time, with "showers" meaning "showers."

Rioters Seen Duplicating Red Tactics

Identical Pattern, Sen. Eastland Says Of Racial Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mississippi Sen. James O. Eastland says Negro rioters in American cities "follow tactics used by the Communist party the world over.

"It's the identical pattern," said the cigar-smoking Democrat, who is presiding over a Senate investigation of the wave of violence searing U.S. cities. "Sniping, looting, rioting, Molotov cocktails."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., cautioned against riot inquiries which concentrate on lawmen, agitators and Communists without stressing as well social and economic conditions he said lie behind violence.

"The only reason that this is happening is because the conditions are there," said Brooke, a Negro and a member of President Johnson's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. "The conditions are such that it can be set off," he added in an interview.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities was poised meanwhile to begin a riot investigation of its own, looking into the influence of subversive organizations in precipitating, exploiting or prolonging rioting.

Police officials from three troubled cities told Eastland's Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday that Black Power agitators from outside their communities ignited violence.

U. S. Casualties Dip In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. combat casualties in the Vietnam war dropped to their lowest level in six months last week with 114 Americans killed, 893 wounded and five missing, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said 164 were killed and 1,442 wounded the week before.

But the sharpest decline last week was in the number of South Vietnamese troops reported killed in action— 76 compared with 183 the week before.

The number of Communists killed dropped to 1,399, the lowest since the week that ended June 10, the U.S. Command said. But U.S. headquarters said the kill ratio of 6.8 to 1 for the allies last week was the highest this year and possibly one of the highest of the war.

The low casualty figures reflected another relative lull in the ground war and did not include the casualties in the disastrous fire aboard the carrier Forrestal Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman explained that it was not known yet whether these would be classified as combat or operational casualties since the fire and explosions began with an accident as the carrier was preparing to launch strikes against North Vietnam.

The Forrestal casualties increased to 131 dead today with the death of two injured men. Three are missing and 62 others were injured.

Johnson Asks Temporary 10% Surtax On Incomes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today "a temporary surcharge of 10 per cent" on both individual and corporate income taxes.

Johnson's message emphasized "these are surcharges on taxes, not on incomes," meaning that whatever tax is paid now would be hiked by 10 per cent.

The surcharge on corporate income would be effective retroactive to July 1, 1967, and the surcharge on individual income taxes would become effective Oct. 1.

"They would expire on June 30, 1969, or continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues," the President's message said.

Johnson also recommended a speed-up in corporate tax collections.

Humphrey Asks Marshall Plan For Poverty Areas

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says "the rule of the jungle will not prevail" in the United States and he calls for "a Marshall Plan" for America's impoverished areas as one means of preventing racial violence.

The vice president also proposed establishment of councils for civil peace to deal with riots. He spoke Wednesday night before a national convention of county officials in Detroit, where riots claimed 41 lives and left an estimated $500 million damage last week.

He went into no details on his Marshall Plan proposal. The original Marshall Plan, proposed by then-Secretary of State George C. Marshall, committed the United States to spend billions to held rebuild European countries after World War II.

"Our nation is in trouble," Humphrey said. "The first thing is to re-establish law and order in this country by whatever legal means it takes to do it."

This brought applause.

He proposed councils for civil peace at state and, where possible, metropolitan levels. He said they could include representation from all racial and religious groups, state government, the National Guard and law-enforcement agencies.

They could provide, he said, a community relations service "designed to prevent violence and to gain community cooperation and to hear the voices of those who have gone unheard."

He added they could set up an early-warning system "so that coming disorders might be detected in advance and, perhaps, be stopped before they begin."

McKissick Lists 6 Demands On LBJ, Congress

The demands, read to newsmen, were:

1. Kill the anti-riot bill.
2. Release all "political prisoners," meaning those seized during recent racial violence and "halt their prosecutions."
3. Restore the heavyweight championship to Muhammad Ali (Cassius Clay).
4. Resubmit the uban rat control legislation to Congress "and pass that bill—now."
5. Increase the funds for the Office of Economic Opportunity programs by at least $10 million and make sure "this money reaches the poor black people of the ghetto, not the poverty bureaucrats."
6. Reinstate all Black Power professors at Howard University who were "dismissed because they dared to counsel and work with black students opposed to militarism and the sickness of American society."

17,000 Koreans Paid By U.S. To Aid In Vietnam

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park and two envoys from President Johnson agreed in principle today to send about 17,000 South Korean reservists paid by the United States to help man supply lines in the Vietnam war, government sources said.

The American envoys, Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, made no requests for more Korean combat troops, a government spokesman said. South Korea already has 46,000 fighting men in Vietnam.

Government sources said detailed plans for sending the Korean logistic service corps to Vietnam will be worked out between the two countries through diplomatic channels.

Clifford and Taylor were scheduled to leave for Washington tonight.

4-H Advisers Plan Banquet

LISBON — Columbiana County's annual recognition banquet for 4-H advisers will be held Oct. 5 in Lincoln School here, with the Lisbon Band Mothers Association serving the meal.

Plans were made by the county 4-H Advisory Committee Wednesday night at the extension office. Mrs. Frank Hahn of Minerva RD 2, chairman, presided.

Another decision was to continue with the annual 4-H rally in the fall. There was discussion of projects to raise money for the 4-H fund, the overall program, enrollment and re-enrollment and recruitment of advisers.

Ruthann Sutton of Bluffton, Ind., and Susan Sperry of Milwaukee, Wis., reported on their year in the East Liverpool-Wellsville area as Volunteers in Service to America. Miss Pearle Hartley, summer 4-H assistant in the extension office, described her work.

McKissick Lists 6 Demands On LBJ, Congress

CLEVELAND (AP) — Floyd McKissick presented a list of six demands on President Johnson and Congress Wednesday and said if they are ignored "it will be reaffirmed that white America has no interest in the black population."

"It will be further evidence that the only cure is revolution," said the head of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

The demands, read to newsmen, were:

1. Kill the anti-riot bill.
2. Release all "political prisoners," meaning those seized during recent racial violence and "halt their prosecutions."
3. Restore the heavyweight championship to Muhammad Ali (Cassius Clay).
4. Resubmit the uban rat control legislation to Congress "and pass that bill—now."
5. Increase the funds for the Office of Economic Opportunity programs by at least $10 million and make sure "this money reaches the poor black people of the ghetto, not the poverty bureaucrats."
6. Reinstate all Black Power professors at Howard University who were "dismissed because they dared to counsel and work with black students opposed to militarism and the sickness of American society."

Coming Up—An Important Vote

The most important event of this waning summer may be the vote on a proposed resolution that will come before the U.S. Senate in September.

The Senate's decision could save thousands of young Americans from death and mutiliation in years to come. It may stop the profligate waste of U.S. treasure in futile military expeditions and open-ended foreign aid programs.

The decision will come on a resolution proposed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright to give the Senate the right to say when the executive department can make an official commitment.

Sen. Fulbright, one of a few senators who have been giving second thought to executive monopoly of authority over foreign policy, insists his proposal is not aimed at any person or any situation.

But everybody knows it concerns the Johnson administration's military commitment in Southeast Asia, where a full-blown war is being fought with no declaration of war and no official advice or consent by the U.S. Senate.

Everybody knows it also concerns offhand executive commitments to carry out policies that can bind the United States for generations to come — commitments made without benefit of congressional debate and action.

Yet, when the bills are payable the Senate must vote for appropriations. Its members must rationalize what they have done when they go home to face their constituents.

Moreover, as Sen. Fulbright has learned since he began to ask questions about the way his old friend, Lyndon B. Johnson, is conducting foreign policy, any senator who does not keep his mouth shut is accused of second-guessing the administration.

Second-guessing in the United States is not treasonable. It is an exercise of judgment. The Founding Fathers split federal power three ways to guarantee that second-guessing would not perish from the Republic they formed.

It is too late now to avert a costly, bloody crusade in Vietnam for purposes that retreat into deeper obscurity week by week.

It is too late to get back the billions that have been boodled away in international boondoggles. But for the sake of posterity, it is not too late to restore the Senate's lost authority over administrative commitments.

Sen. Fulbright's proposal, if approved, merely would express the "sense of the Senate." It would not be binding. But anything at this juncture that expressed sense would be welcome—and thrice welcome in the homes of upward of a half million men who soon will be mucking through swamps and jungles in pursuit of a foreign policy that has led the United States into a blind alley in Vietnam.

Museum's Future

The future of the Wellsville Historical Society's wellknown River Museum, made cloudy by plans for the Route 7 relocation project, has become brighter in recent days as a result of action by Society members and others.

Council has given its approval of a proposal to provide an access road to the Museum which would otherwise be isolated by the highway construction.

The River Museum has become a real part of the community, a site of significant interest throughout the region and a symbol not only of Wellsville's historical background but of the colorful era when the steamboat was king in the Ohio Valley.

Preservation of the old building and its rich collections of the past deserves the full support of the whole community and all those in the tri-state district who recognize the importance of the museum as a link to the past, as an asset now and an investment for the future.

Taking Aim At Rats

New York is following the only course open to states with a rat problem. It has stopped waiting for a federal handout and undertaken its own program.

There has been much wailing since the U.S. House of Representatives rejected President Johnson's $40 million rat-control measure. Now the blame for the whole rat problem has been dropped in the government's lap.

Such thinking is preposterous. The seriousness of the rat population did not occur overnight. Too many city officials have been playing ostrich. They should have had their heads out of the sand a long time ago.

Most sizable cities have rat control programs either separate from other departments or in connection with health and sanitation. People involved in these areas have been warning for years about what was taking place.

Some cities have been keeping on top of rat control, others have ignored it and still others keep asking the federal government to do something about it.

New York has seen the light. It has set out to get rid of the rats with a $4.5 million project. If federal funds become available later, New York will get its share—but it isn't waiting.

The pressing need to stop attacks on children, halt the spread of disease and eliminate economic waste caused by rats is obvious. It needs to be done immediately.

Officials seeking to place the blame for the rat scourge of our cities on Congress are letting their ignorance show.

Congress didn't tell them to refuse to instigate and enforce rigid building maintenance laws, or to let rat control programs become outdated, or pay little attention to proper refuse collection.

They did it on their own — and now they are paying.

End Of The Line

The death of Alfried Krupp marks the end of the German family best known for a fortune made in the manufacture of instruments of mass death.

Alfried Krupp became the last to head the family empire when his son, Arndt Krupp, renounced his inheritance rights last year.

When Alfried Krupp took over the industrial complex from his father in 1943, Eastern European slave labor was being used to keep the plants humming. The Krupp plants supplied the German army with equipment and gained a double profit by plundering Hitler-occupied European territory.

These actions led to Krupp's conviction at the Nuremberg trials in 1948. He served only six years of a 12-year term.

Leaving prison, Krupp vowed to build up the family holdings again—but without the manufacture of arms. The Krupp plants became important in West Germany's industrial progress under his direction.

Despite all the useful products made by Krupp family plants through the years, the remarkable comeback from the rubble of Allied bombing runs and the early attention to complete fringe benefits for employes, the Krupp name will forever symbolize the family's contribution to German militarism.

President Charles de Gaulle has just completed one of the most successful good-will visits in the last 100 years. His trip to Canada has been the talk of diplomatic circles on five continents and every country is vying for the president of France to honor them with a visit soon.

Art Buchwald

But De Gaulle is exhausted after making so many friends in Canada and is taking it easy for the moment, catching up on his mail and attending to the social amenities for which he has become so famous.

"Did I ever get a thank-you note from Prime Minister Lester Pearson?" De Gaulle asked his secretary the other day.

"No, Monsier le President, there is nothing from Monsieur Pearson."

"That's strange," De Gaulle said. "You would think the least he would do is thank me for visiting his country."

"Perhaps he is waiting for you, Monsieur le President, to thank him for his hospitality during your visit."

"This is true. But the Canadians are strange people, Monsieur. Some of them do not even recognize that Canada is historically and culturally part of France."

"Not even after my visit?"

"It's true that you did much to clear the air, but you still have pockets of resistance in Canada, particularly in the higher positions in government."

"They are so shortsighted," De Gaulle said. "What has been the press reaction to my trip?"

"Wonderful, Monsieur le President. It was described on French national television as a 'veritable triumph.' The French national radio called it 'a voyage that will long be remembered,' and the French Minister of Information has said he can't remember when a head of state left such a mark on a country as you left on Canada."

"What about the newspapers?"

"They lied as usual."

"OH, WELL, IT doesn't matter. History will show I was right. Where do you think we ought to go next?"

"It's hard to say, Monsieur le President. You have received so many invitations since your trip to Canada. Pakistan wants you to visit India, Israel wants you to visit Egypt, the United States wants you to visit the Soviet Union and the Soviet Union wants you to visit Red China."

"They seem to forget I'm only human."

"It is very hard for them to remember," the secretary agreed.

"Did the Canadians receive my gift?"

"Our ambassador to Ottawa reports the Canadian government was overwhelmed by it. He said the bronze statue of you, with the words 'Liberez Quebec' on the tri-color banner you are holding, brought tears to their eyes. Because of what you've done for Canada, they want to put it somewhere near Expo 67."

"Near Expo 67?"

"Yes, the last place mentioned was the bottom of the St. Lawrence River."

VICTOR RIESEL

Industrialists Fight Fire

CHICAGO — Learn, baby, learn, man, is hotter than burn, baby, burn. That's the advice being given to thousands of young Negroes — and their white neighbors in a hundred ghettos — by honest men now deep in the very power structure which the firebrands are eager to tear down.

Victor Riesel

But it is far more than advice these men are giving. They're spending their money, their time, their talents and the not always abundant excess energies of harassed middle-aged corporate and labor executives.

And they did not wait for the fires to turn on the heat. Their story is being lost in the crackle of yesterday's flames. That's a pity, for right now — deep in the heart of the goliath steel industry — business executives and labor leaders are "tooling up" a pilot project which would take tens of thousands of undereducated and unskilled adults off the streets and put them into the pipeline for secure and well-paying jobs.

At this moment in the Chicago-Gary and Baltimore steel complex, local leaders of the United Steelworkers of America and mangament men from seven major steel corporations are running "employe clinics." They're seeking 1,600 undereducated workers so they can be sent to classes in September right in the big plants themselves. The pilot project seeks both the men who need rudimentary reeducation and those whose literacy is on a slightly higher level. In the end, these men, while working, will have gone through 150 hours of upper level grade school and high school courses at the rate of six hours a week. They will study just before or just after the shift. The much abused "power structure" corporations will pay the bill.

IF THIS SUCCEEDS in such plants as Bethlehem's Sparrow's Point and Armco's mill over in East Baltimore, and down the line here at Inland, National Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and U.S. Steel, the operation will flow coast to coast throughout this behemoth industry.

From there, the projects will be moved into the auto, rubber and other mass production fields.

The objective is to upgrade the skills, and education of the employes so they can tear themselves loose from the laborer category on the bottom.
ble.

THE PILOT PROJECT may not suit the young lions in the streets but if it works it will give hundreds of thousands of unskilled and uneducated workers a chance to "get with it." This is a four-way effort. It sprang from the 1965 collective bargaining negotiations (which wound up in the White House). Virtually unnoticed and unreported was a final contract clause on training of manpower.

The steel industry's coordinating group, speaking for ten major firms, agreed to set up a study committee. On it were the union's president, I. W. Abel; its special counsel, Elliot Bredhoff; Bill Caples of Inland Steel, and H. C. "Lefty" Lumb of Republic. They could commit the entire industry.

They conferred with government officials and soon, in May 1967, they had $1 million of federal funds.

OF COURSE, 1,600 men are only the beginning. If they move successfully through the study courses, the industry can be expected to move into the community, though it is not the responsibility of Big Steel. Educating the unskilled semi-literate proletariat is the public's task. But the much abused "power structure" is hardly what it is made out to be in the literature of what Lenin called the infantile Left.

There's much riding on this pilot project. It could steer a course for all massive industries and unions.

But not if the rioters continue to burn the inner gut of America's great industrial cities, nor if these megalopolises exist as armed camps.

Law Needed

DAVID LAWRENCE

The 11-member commission appointed by President Johnson—which is to complete, a year hence, its report on the causes of the recent rioting—cannot solve the immediate problem before the country today.

Congress alone can do that and only by specifically passing a law covering conspiracies designed to stir up disorder.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is reported to be powerless to bring about the arrest of persons primarily responsible for the planning and organization of the incidents that have for the last three years led to rioting and damage to life and property across the country.

Former President Eisenhower was quoted the other day as having been told in Washington that there is no federal law "on the books" which could be used to thwart the plotters of the rioting, because this is supposed to be the function of state or city authorities.

There happens to be a federal statute which reads:

"If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having so exercised the same . . . they shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both."

This law became effective Sept. 1, 1948. It is Section 241 of Title 18, known as the U.S. Criminal Code.

DOESN'T THIS give the FBI the right to make arrests if it learns of anyone engaged in a plot to create a disorder or if anyone makes an incendiary speech to a crowd which results in violence?

Isn't it a federal responsibility to forestall any attempt to stir up violence which could result in loss of life?

If plotters instigate riots across state lines, aren't they as much subject to discipline under federal law as restaurant owners who refuse to serve food to Negro customers?

Such questions are being asked as several members of the Senate continue to study means of strengthening the anti-riot bill passed recenly by the House of Representatives. Hearings are being conducted on the subject by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

One is confronted in official circles with the oft-repreated comment that new laws will be as useless as the ones now on the statue books.

The Department of Justice simply will not prosecute cases arising from "demonstrations" or "marches" involving "civil rights," no matter how disorderly they become.

It is insisted that these are a responsibility of the states and cities and that the Johnson administration has told the FBI to stay within those limits and merely relay its information to local officials.

Plainly, there is a reluctance to let the Department of Justice step in where political questions are involved unless the evidence is "clear." What this means, of course, is that the FBI has to limit the scope of its inquiries to conform to instructions given by the attorney general or by the President.

MR. JOHNSON spoke in his TV speech to the nation about the FBI's functions as follows:

"In their work, the commission members will have access to the facts that are gathered by Director Edgar Hoover and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI will continue to exercise its full authority to investigate these riots, in accordance with my standing instructions, and continue to search for evidence of conspiracy."

But of what avail are such data if the FBI cannot bring about the immediate arrest of the plotters of riots and has to turn the information over to state authorities and wait until the violence erupts?

For many years, it has been apparent that, as long as the Department of Justice is under the disciplinary influence of a president, there cannot always be avoidance of political considerations.

Some day, a law will have to be passed making the attorney general responsible to Congress—as is the comptroller-general—and establishing the Department of Justice as an independent agency.

Otherwise, there will continue to be fears of alienating the blocs of voters whose leaders are attempting by demonstrations, "marches," rallies and inflammatory speeches to stir up trouble throughout the country.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Bailey of Park Blvd. left for New York City preparatory to sailing on the S. S. Roosevelt for a two-month visit in Scotland.

The Shenkel reunion was held at Thompson Park, with Jacob Shenkel elected president.

A summer "Christmas party" was held by members of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. P. F. Woods of Lincoln Highway.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Albert "Skip" Beech of Anderson Ave., Wellsville, a war veteran, enrolled at Kent State University.

A newly - organized Christian Endeavor Choir made its first appearance at the Second Christian Church.

TEN YEARS AGO — Firemen were called to erect a ladder against a sheer 15-foot shelf of rock along the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." to help stretcher - bearers remove a 10-year-old girl injured when she fell from a rope swing.

Learn, baby, learn, or tomorrow there may be mighty little left to burn.

"They are so shortsighted," De Gaulle said. "What has been the press reaction to my trip?"

"Wonderful, Monsieur le President. It was described on French national television as a 'veritable triumph.' The French national radio called it 'a voyage that will long be remembered,' and the French Minister of Information has said he can't remember when a head of state left such a mark on a country as you left on Canada."

"What about the newspapers?"

"They lied as usual."

"OH, WELL, IT doesn't matter. History will show I was right. Where do you think we ought to go next?"

"It's hard to say, Monsieur le President. You have received so many invitations since your trip to Canada. Pakistan wants you to visit India, Israel wants you to visit Egypt, the United States wants you to visit the Soviet Union and the Soviet Union wants you to visit Red China."

"They seem to forget I'm only human."

"It is very hard for them to remember," the secretary agreed.

"Did the Canadians receive my gift?"

"Our ambassador to Ottawa reports the Canadian government was overwhelmed by it. He said the bronze statue of you, with the words 'Liberez Quebec' on the tri-color banner you are holding, brought tears to their eyes. Because of what you've done for Canada, they want to put it somewhere near Expo 67."

"Near Expo 67?"

"Yes, the last place mentioned was the bottom of the St. Lawrence River."

VICTOR RIESEL

Industrialists Fight Fire

CHICAGO — Learn, baby, learn, man, is hotter than burn, baby, burn. That's the advice being given to thousands of young Negroes — and their white neighbors in a hundred ghettos — by honest men now deep in the very power structure which the firebrands are eager to tear down.

Victor Riesel

But it is far more than advice these men are giving. They're spending their money, their time, their talents and the not always abundant excess energies of harassed middle-aged corporate and labor executives.

And they did not wait for the fires to turn on the heat. Their story is being lost in the crackle of yesterday's flames. That's a pity, for right now — deep in the heart of the goliath steel industry — business executives and labor leaders are "tooling up" a pilot project which would take tens of thousands of undereducated and unskilled adults off the streets and put them into the pipeline for secure and well-paying jobs.

At this moment in the Chicago-Gary and Baltimore steel complex, local leaders of the United Steelworkers of America and mangament men from seven major steel corporations are running "employe clinics." They're seeking 1,600 undereducated workers so they can be sent to classes in September right in the big plants themselves. The pilot project seeks both the men who need rudimentary reeducation and those whose literacy is on a slightly higher level. In the end, these men, while working, will have gone through 150 hours of upper level grade school and high school courses at the rate of six hours a week. They will study just before or just after the shift. The much abused "power structure" corporations will pay the bill.

IF THIS SUCCEEDS in such plants as Bethlehem's Sparrow's Point and Armco's mill over in East Baltimore, and down the line here at Inland, National Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and U.S. Steel, the operation will flow coast to coast throughout this behemoth industry.

From there, the projects will be moved into the auto, rubber and other mass production fields.

The objective is to upgrade the skills, and education of the employes so they can tear themselves loose from the laborer category on the bottom.
ble.

THE PILOT PROJECT may not suit the young lions in the streets but if it works it will give hundreds of thousands of unskilled and uneducated workers a chance to "get with it." This is a four-way effort. It sprang from the 1965 collective bargaining negotiations (which wound up in the White House). Virtually unnoticed and unreported was a final contract clause on training of manpower.

The steel industry's coordinating group, speaking for ten major firms, agreed to set up a study committee. On it were the union's president, I. W. Abel; its special counsel, Elliot Bredhoff; Bill Caples of Inland Steel, and H. C. "Lefty" Lumb of Republic. They could commit the entire industry.

They conferred with government officials and soon, in May 1967, they had $1 million of federal funds.

OF COURSE, 1,600 men are only the beginning. If they move successfully through the study courses, the industry can be expected to move into the community, though it is not the responsibility of Big Steel. Educating the unskilled semi-literate proletariat is the public's task. But the much abused "power structure" is hardly what it is made out to be in the literature of what Lenin called the infantile Left.

There's much riding on this pilot project. It could steer a course for all massive industries and unions.

But not if the rioters continue to burn the inner gut of America's great industrial cities, nor if these megalopolises exist as armed camps.

DAVID LAWRENCE

The 11-member commission appointed by President Johnson—which is to complete, a year hence, its report on the causes of the recent rioting—cannot solve the immediate problem before the country today.

Congress alone can do that and only by specifically passing a law covering conspiracies designed to stir up disorder.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is reported to be powerless to bring about the arrest of persons primarily responsible for the planning and organization of the incidents that have for the last three years led to rioting and damage to life and property across the country.

Former President Eisenhower was quoted the other day as having been told in Washington that there is no federal law "on the books" which could be used to thwart the plotters of the rioting, because this is supposed to be the function of state or city authorities.

There happens to be a federal statute which reads:

"If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having so exercised the same . . . they shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both."

This law became effective Sept. 1, 1948. It is Section 241 of Title 18, known as the U.S. Criminal Code.

DOESN'T THIS give the FBI the right to make arrests if it learns of anyone engaged in a plot to create a disorder or if anyone makes an incendiary speech to a crowd which results in violence?

Isn't it a federal responsibility to forestall any attempt to stir up violence which could result in loss of life?

If plotters instigate riots across state lines, aren't they as much subject to discipline under federal law as restaurant owners who refuse to serve food to Negro customers?

Such questions are being asked as several members of the Senate continue to study means of strengthening the anti-riot bill passed recenly by the House of Representatives. Hearings are being conducted on the subject by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

One is confronted in official circles with the oft-repreated comment that new laws will be as useless as the ones now on the statue books.

The Department of Justice simply will not prosecute cases arising from "demonstrations" or "marches" involving "civil rights," no matter how disorderly they become.

It is insisted that these are a responsibility of the states and cities and that the Johnson administration has told the FBI to stay within those limits and merely relay its information to local officials.

Plainly, there is a reluctance to let the Department of Justice step in where political questions are involved unless the evidence is "clear." What this means, of course, is that the FBI has to limit the scope of its inquiries to conform to instructions given by the attorney general or by the President.

MR. JOHNSON spoke in his TV speech to the nation about the FBI's functions as follows:

"In their work, the commission members will have access to the facts that are gathered by Director Edgar Hoover and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI will continue to exercise its full authority to investigate these riots, in accordance with my standing instructions, and continue to search for evidence of conspiracy."

But of what avail are such data if the FBI cannot bring about the immediate arrest of the plotters of riots and has to turn the information over to state authorities and wait until the violence erupts?

For many years, it has been apparent that, as long as the Department of Justice is under the disciplinary influence of a president, there cannot always be avoidance of political considerations.

Some day, a law will have to be passed making the attorney general responsible to Congress—as is the comptroller-general—and establishing the Department of Justice as an independent agency.

Otherwise, there will continue to be fears of alienating the blocs of voters whose leaders are attempting by demonstrations, "marches," rallies and inflammatory speeches to stir up trouble throughout the country.

Among Both Whites, Negroes

Wide Deprivation Seen In Mississippi Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal investigators looking for racial discrimination in Mississippi welfare programs report finding widespread deprivation among both whites and Negroes with no clearcut differences between them in welfare payments.

"Human needs are not being met," said the report, made last December by Health, Education and Welfare Department staffers but released only recently under the U.S. Freedom of Information Act.

"General deprivation, affecting both Negroes and whites irrespective of any specific discrimination toward Negroes, was found to be a major problem," said the report. But it added: "This poverty, because of income levels, falls more heavily on Negroes than others."

The study, based on interviews with about 150 persons in 10 Mississippi counties, found "poverty exists throughout the state both within and without the public welfare programs. Limitations in law and inadequate appropriations are contributing factors. A negative attitude toward welfare is commonplace."

Those interviewed included civic and civil rights leaders as well as welfare workers and officials.

Mississippi has the lowest average assistance payments of any state and receives the highest percentage of federal contributions toward its public assistance, the study said. Yet it also noted Mississippi has the lowest per capita income of any state but "nevertheless exceeded 27 other states for assistance payments from state and local funds per $1,000 of personal income in 1965."

Several members of Congress, including Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., charged recently that people are going hungry in Mississippi. In response to such allegations from Capitol Hill and elsewhere, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has lowered the price of food stamps for needy families.

Investigators said one force which has held back full compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act is "an undercurrent of fear" among both Negroes and whites in Mississippi.

The report said whites fear "that social change as required by provisions of the Civil Rights Act may threaten the entire social structure" and that Negroes fear "reprisals, physical, social and economic, if they insist on the rights to which they are entitled."

NAACP Of Ohio Sets Parley On Riot Prevention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio NAACP branches have called a state conference here Saturday at the Fort Hayes Hotel to discuss riot prevention.

Nathaniel C. Lee, president of the Ohio NAACP State Conference of Branches, said purpose of the session is to have a review of community unrest, racial tension, and the relationship of law enforcement officials at all government levels.

He said these cities have been named for priority consideration in view of rioting and other racial incidents: Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, Toledo, Youngstown, Lorain, Hamilton, Greene County (Yellow Springs, Wilberforce, and Xenia), Massillon and Oberlin.

De-Escalation Of War Urged

South Viet Presidential Campaign Begins Today

By STEVE STIBBENS

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnam's presidential campaign officially opened today and a leading civilian candidate for vice president called for de-escalation of the war and negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the ruling military junta's vice presidential candidate, also talked about a peace settlement but spoke in terms of the Communists giving up "someday." He said there would be no pause in the bombing of North Vietnam until the allies are sure Hanoi will respond to such a pause.

Phan Quang Dan, running mate of presidential candidate Phan Khac Suu, told a news conference: "It is impossible to fight the Communists like we are now. It would be better to have a shouting war rather than a shooting war."

He proposed negotiations with the Communists "at all levels, including the National Liberation Front." The NLF is the political arm of the Viet Cong. Ky's military government has adamantly opposed any negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Suu is president of the provisional assembly. He sat alongside as Dan said their platform calls for issuing parcels of land to all peasants on an equal basis and canceling peasants' taxes until the war ends.

"The Communists made these kinds of offers and the peasants prefer communism right now because they think they will own their land and not pay taxes when the war ends," he said. "Why can't we make such an offer?"

Ky, running mate of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, made his statements during a tour of a Catholic hospital in Ho Nai, about 20 miles from Saigon. He said "something decisive" could be expected soon in the war but would not say what or when.

"I think the morale of the Communists is very low," Ky said.

NASA Confirms Five Scientist-Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has confirmed the names of five men on a list of at least 11 scientist-astronauts that will be announced within the next few days.

The new spacemen include the nation's first foreign-born astronauts, Dr. John A. Llewellyn, 34, a native of Cardiff, Wales, and a research chemist on the faculty of Florida State University, and Philip K. Chapman, a native of Australia and a scientist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Both Llewellyn, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Chapman, who lives near Boston, are naturalized U.S. citizens. NASA dropped a requirement last year that astronauts be native-born Americans.

The other three who, according to NASA, are "on the list involved in the final selection process," are Dr. Donald Lee Holmquest, 28, a physician from Houston, Tex.; Dr. Karl G. Henize, 40, as astronomer at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and William E. Thornton, 38, until recently an Air Force captain at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

NASA refused to reveal the entire list of new astronauts until all have been notified and a briefing is held with the National Academy of Sciences, which made the initial recommendations from a list of applicants. Indications were that the academy briefing would be held before the weekend.

Eleven new trainees would swell the NASA astronaut team to 57.

Study Continues In Campaign To Curb Mosquitoes

Dr. Roy Rings, an extension entomologist from Ohio State University, will return to Salem this evening to collect more mosquitoes, eggs and wrigglers.

He visited "Mosquito Heaven" northeast of Salem Wednesday with Joe Kornbau, Perry Township trustee, but was not satisfied with the samples collected.

Dr. Rings is associate chairman of the Department of Entomology at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster. He will bring more equipment from his laboratory this evening.

Joe Pittman, Columbiana County extension agent for agriculture, said Dr. Rings will determine the species of mosquito troubling the residential area and submit a report and recommendations for control.

County commissioners last Thursday asked Pittman to request the service of a state specialist after northeast residents visited the Courthouse to ask for help.

Dr. Rings spent several years in mosquito control work for the Army.

The earth's average yearly rainfall is 32 inches. If all this rain fell at once, the world would be covered with three feet of water.

Study Continues In Campaign To Curb Mosquitoes

Dr. Roy Rings, an extension entomologist from Ohio State University, will return to Salem this evening to collect more mosquitoes, eggs and wrigglers.

He visited "Mosquito Heaven" northeast of Salem Wednesday with Joe Kornbau, Perry Township trustee, but was not satisfied with the samples collected.

Dr. Rings is associate chairman of the Department of Entomology at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster. He will bring more equipment from his laboratory this evening.

Joe Pittman, Columbiana County extension agent for agriculture, said Dr. Rings will determine the species of mosquito troubling the residential area and submit a report and recommendations for control.

County commissioners last Thursday asked Pittman to request the service of a state specialist after northeast residents visited the Courthouse to ask for help.

Dr. Rings spent several years in mosquito control work for the Army.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: Now is the time to save a few dollars.

During the summer, our bathing suits are left hither and thither.

Don't leave chlorine or salt water in the bathing suit. They not only deteriorate the fabric but fade the color.

Anytime you come back from swimming in salt water, chlorinated water, or any type of swimming pool (whether private or community), wash your bathing suit. . .not in just plain water, but with a good detergent . . .and rinse it well. This prevents fading and rotting.

Never sit, lie, or stretch out on concrete (that's cement) in any type of elasticized bathing suit. Always put a bath towel down first. This prevents cutting of the fibers in the suit.

Save any way you can, especially when bathing suits are so expensive nowadays.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make a quantity of iced tea for a picnic, I put it in my insulated jug. I make our tea the strength we like and I do not like it further diluted with ice cubes.

So. . .instead of putting the ice cubes loose in the tea, I put them inside a plastic bag and close it securely with a rubber band. Then I drop the bag and all inside the cooler and let it float in the tea.

This not only keeps the tea cold without diluting, but we can use the clean ice cubes when we need them.

This would also be great for other drinks such as lemonade or punch.

ELINOR THOMAS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I misspell a word or a sentence needs changing, I no longer use an eraser.

I put a small piece of cellophane tape tightly over the word to be changed and yank it off swiftly. The writing and a little of the paper comes off but there is no smudge caused by an erasure.

Of course, only one layer can be removed, but I've found this to be a great help in making corrections.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a suggestion that might prove helpful when traveling. Many motels provide coffee now. But who wants to eat cold rolls or muffins?

So I take along my electric heating pad.

The first thing in the mornings I set it on high, put the rolls (wrapped in foil or wax paper) on the pad and fold in over once. If necessary a book can be put on top to keep it folded.

In a few minutes the rolls ware warm.

"Necessity is the Mother of Invention."

MARY MOORE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Do any of your readers have a solution for a kitchen that is overrun like ants with helping relatives or guests when the hostess is preparing a meal?

My relatives invade my kitchen to visit and pester me with suggestions, questions and offers of help. In the meantime, they are standing in front of the cabinet, sink, refrigerator. . . just any place I turn.

I try to politely send them to the living room, but they ignore my request until I am ready to scream. . .and usually do!

It is no better after a meal. They race to the kitchen, scrape dishes (always into the wrong container), begin to put away leftovers (again into the wrong containers), dry dishes and put them where it takes me two days to find them.

What can I do to convince them I'd rather do it myself?

Course Pays Dividends

LISBON — Columbiana County's first driver improvement course paid off in County Southwest Court Tuesday for John P. Harley of Columbiana, charged with reckless operation.

Judge J. L. MacDonald fined him $25, then suspended it because of the excellent grade Harley made in a 5-hour course last month.

The course costs $7.50 and is held the last two Monday evenings each month at Lisbon Village Hall for referrals from county, municipal and mayors' courts.

John F. McIntosh of Wellsville RD 1 pleaded not guilty to a charge of making an improper left turn, but was then found guilty and fined $15 and costs.

Also fined were Beulah A. Garvin of Alliance, speeding, and John M. Mulgrew of Struthers, no muffler, $10 and costs each.

Forfeiting appearance bonds were James L. Cox and Ivan A. Kemenovich, both of Cleveland, and William Eitner of Akron, all cited for speeding, $20 each, and Allen Sukos of Canton, unlawful operation of watercraft at Guilford Lake, $15.

Gas Firm Revises Budget Payment

A change from a 10-month to a 12-month budget payment plan has been announced by the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Harold Sneddon, manager, said the plan is designed to enable customers to spread the costs of winter heating over the entire year. He said a customer not making use of the plan pays about 65 per cent of his home's annual fuel bill during the four coolest months.

A customer on the plan normally pays the same one-twelfth of the annual cost each month. Each account is reviewed twice each year to consider abnormal weather or other conditions which may affect the monthly payment.

Starting Aug. 11 each gas bill mailed to a residential customer will show the amount he would pay monthly under the plan, and customers may join the optional plan by paying the budget amount.

Harding Starts Duties On Housing Authority

Mayor Robert Harding of East Palestine took the oath of office this morning in the Courthouse at Lisbon as a new member of the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority, replacing Mayor Ralph Kennedy of Leetonia, who resigned.

Judge Raymond Buzzard administered the oath of office in a brief ceremony. Looking on were Aaron Eaton of East Liverpool, another member of the authority, and Merrill D. Hall, its executive director.

Harding was appointed to the vacancy by Judge Buzzard and Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court. The authority's monthly meeting is scheduled next Thursday night at 6:30.

Kennedy, Leetonia's chief administrator for the last 10 years, said yesterday he will resign as mayor before the end of the year. He plans to move to Fort Myers, Fla., where he is building a new home.

$1.2 Under LBJ Proposal

House Eyes $3.2 Billion Social Security Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3.2-billion increase in Social Security benefits—about $1.2 billion less than President Johnson proposed—is headed for House consideration.

The House Ways and Means Committee, after five months of hearings and deliberations, approved Wednesday its version of a complex measure that would:

Provide at least a 12½ per cent increase in benefits for Social Security recipients, effective the second month after enactment.

—Raise Social Security taxes, beginning with a maximum $44 hike next year, to pay the cost of the increases and try to keep pace with still-soaring hospital and medical costs.

—Make a number of changes in the conditions for federal participation in state welfare and medicaid programs, generally in the direction of limiting the extension of medicaid eligibility and of encouraging work training and job requirements for some categories of welfare recipients.

Medicaid—a different program from medicare—is aimed at providing medical and hospital care for the poor.

Sponsors aimed at House consideration of the bill within two weeks.

On the Social Security benefit side, the bill would provide the general raise—less than the 15 per cent Johnson proposed—and the special raises for those receiving minimum amounts.

The minimum benefit under the regular old-age program would be increased from $44 to $50 a month, compared with the administration recommendation of $70.

The special benefit paid certain persons 72 and older with insufficient coverage for the regular program would be increased from $35 to $40 a month for a single person, from $52.50 to $60 a month for a couple.

The committee scaled down the administration-proposed increases by a total of $1.2 billion, members said, to avoid having to raise payroll taxes as high as those would have required. Such a raise, they said, would have been excessive when added to the income tax increase also proposed by Johnson.

The committee bill would raise the payroll taxes for Social Security benefits, including medicare, by a double operation. The wage base on which the tax is levied, now $6,600, would be increased next Jan. 1 to $7,600.

The present rate of 4.4 per cent each for employe and employer would not be changed, however, until 1969. Thereafter the built-in rate increases in the law would be revised upward so that the ultimate top, effective in 1987, would be 5.9 per cent instead of 5.65 per cent.

There would be no tax increase next year for those earning no more than $6,600, and a maximum increase of $44 for any wage earner. But by 1969 the maximum tax would be $364.80 instead of $323.40 and it would increase by stages to $448.40 in 1987 as against the $372.90 contemplated in the present law.

What Tax Bill Means To Schools In County

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Columbiana County schools would receive a $2.7 million biennial increase in state aid under provisions of an education - tax package adopted Wednesday by the Ohio Senate.

According to calculations made by the Ohio Department of Education, East Liverpool schools would pick up an additional $370,886 a year over the next two years and Wellsville schools $135,990.

Additionally, East Liverpool would get $19,200 over the biennium in a special subsidy based on the number of students from families on Aid to Dependent Children (ADC).

According to Sen. John Longsworth, R-Salem, who supported the education - tax bill Wednesday, an additional 7 mills in East Liverpool and 2.7 mills in Salem would have to be levied in real property taxes to match the increases coming to the districts under the bill.

Following is the State Board of Education's Assessment of what the bill as passed by the Senate would mean to Columbiana County school districts.

The first figure is the annual state aid and the second, in parentheses, is the per year increase.

The allocations are not expected to be lowered in the House, Senate leadership has stated.

Women Hold Meeting At Clarkson Church

CLARKSON — Mrs. Velma Watson was program chairman Tuesday when the Women's Association of the Clarkson United Presbyterian Church met in the social rooms.

She used two articles from a recent issue of the Reader's Digest — "What is the Matter with The Younger Generation?" and "We Should Be Ashamed," by Dwight D. Eisenhower—as springboards for discussion.

Hostesses were Mrs. Mildred Hole and Mrs. Florence Lyons.

For even slices of corned beef hash, chill the hash in the can. Cut top of can completely away with can opener; cut away bottom of can but leave round of metal in place. Press against the metal round and empty hash; cut hash into four slices.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: Now is the time to save a few dollars.

During the summer, our bathing suits are left hither and thither.

Don't leave chlorine or salt water in the bathing suit. They not only deteriorate the fabric but fade the color.

Anytime you come back from swimming in salt water, chlorinated water, or any type of swimming pool (whether private or community), wash your bathing suit. . .not in just plain water, but with a good detergent . . .and rinse it well. This prevents fading and rotting.

Never sit, lie, or stretch out on concrete (that's cement) in any type of elasticized bathing suit. Always put a bath towel down first. This prevents cutting of the fibers in the suit.

Save any way you can, especially when bathing suits are so expensive nowadays.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make a quantity of iced tea for a picnic, I put it in my insulated jug. I make our tea the strength we like and I do not like it further diluted with ice cubes.

So. . .instead of putting the ice cubes loose in the tea, I put them inside a plastic bag and close it securely with a rubber band. Then I drop the bag and all inside the cooler and let it float in the tea.

This not only keeps the tea cold without diluting, but we can use the clean ice cubes when we need them.

This would also be great for other drinks such as lemonade or punch.

ELINOR THOMAS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I misspell a word or a sentence needs changing, I no longer use an eraser.

I put a small piece of cellophane tape tightly over the word to be changed and yank it off swiftly. The writing and a little of the paper comes off but there is no smudge caused by an erasure.

Of course, only one layer can be removed, but I've found this to be a great help in making corrections.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a suggestion that might prove helpful when traveling. Many motels provide coffee now. But who wants to eat cold rolls or muffins?

So I take along my electric heating pad.

The first thing in the mornings I set it on high, put the rolls (wrapped in foil or wax paper) on the pad and fold in over once. If necessary a book can be put on top to keep it folded.

In a few minutes the rolls ware warm.

MARY MOORE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Do any of your readers have a solution for a kitchen that is overrun like ants with helping relatives or guests when the hostess is preparing a meal?

My relatives invade my kitchen to visit and pester me with suggestions, questions and offers of help. In the meantime, they are standing in front of the cabinet, sink, refrigerator. . . just any place I turn.

I try to politely send them to the living room, but they ignore my request until I am ready to scream. . .and usually do!

It is no better after a meal. They race to the kitchen, scrape dishes (always into the wrong container), begin to put away leftovers (again into the wrong containers), dry dishes and put them where it takes me two days to find them.

What can I do to convince them I'd rather do it myself?

NERVOUS WRECK.

Course Pays Dividends

LISBON — Columbiana County's first driver improvement course paid off in County Southwest Court Tuesday for John P. Harley of Columbiana, charged with reckless operation.

Judge J. L. MacDonald fined him $25, then suspended it because of the excellent grade Harley made in a 5-hour course last month.

The course costs $7.50 and is held the last two Monday evenings each month at Lisbon Village Hall for referrals from county, municipal and mayors' courts.

John F. McIntosh of Wellsville RD 1 pleaded not guilty to a charge of making an improper left turn, but was then found guilty and fined $15 and costs.

Also fined were Beulah A. Garvin of Alliance, speeding, and John M. Mulgrew of Struthers, no muffler, $10 and costs each.

Forfeiting appearance bonds were James L. Cox and Ivan A. Kemenovich, both of Cleveland, and William Eitner of Akron, all cited for speeding, $20 each, and Allen Sukos of Canton, unlawful operation of watercraft at Guilford Lake, $15.

Gas Firm Revises Budget Payment

A change from a 10-month to a 12-month budget payment plan has been announced by the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Harold Sneddon, manager, said the plan is designed to enable customers to spread the costs of winter heating over the entire year. He said a customer not making use of the plan pays about 65 per cent of his home's annual fuel bill during the four coolest months.

A customer on the plan normally pays the same one-twelfth of the annual cost each month. Each account is reviewed twice each year to consider abnormal weather or other conditions which may affect the monthly payment.

Starting Aug. 11 each gas bill mailed to a residential customer will show the amount he would pay monthly under the plan, and customers may join the optional plan by paying the budget amount.

Harding Starts Duties On Housing Authority

Mayor Robert Harding of East Palestine took the oath of office this morning in the Courthouse at Lisbon as a new member of the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority, replacing Mayor Ralph Kennedy of Leetonia, who resigned.

Judge Raymond Buzzard administered the oath of office in a brief ceremony. Looking on were Aaron Eaton of East Liverpool, another member of the authority, and Merrill D. Hall, its executive director.

Harding was appointed to the vacancy by Judge Buzzard and Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court. The authority's monthly meeting is scheduled next Thursday night at 6:30.

Kennedy, Leetonia's chief administrator for the last 10 years, said yesterday he will resign as mayor before the end of the year. He plans to move to Fort Myers, Fla., where he is building a new home.

Arnold Palmer has been beaten in playoffs for the U.S. Open golf crown by Jack Nicklaus in 1962, Julius Boros in 1963 and Billy Capser in 1966.

$1.2 Under LBJ Proposal

House Eyes $3.2 Billion Social Security Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3.2-billion increase in Social Security benefits—about $1.2 billion less than President Johnson proposed—is headed for House consideration.

The House Ways and Means Committee, after five months of hearings and deliberations, approved Wednesday its version of a complex measure that would:

Provide at least a 12½ per cent increase in benefits for Social Security recipients, effective the second month after enactment.

—Raise Social Security taxes, beginning with a maximum $44 hike next year, to pay the cost of the increases and try to keep pace with still-soaring hospital and medical costs.

—Make a number of changes in the conditions for federal participation in state welfare and medicaid programs, generally in the direction of limiting the extension of medicaid eligibility and of encouraging work training and job requirements for some categories of welfare recipients.

Medicaid—a different program from medicare—is aimed at providing medical and hospital care for the poor.

Sponsors aimed at House consideration of the bill within two weeks.

On the Social Security benefit side, the bill would provide the general raise—less than the 15 per cent Johnson proposed—and the special raises for those receiving minimum amounts.

The minimum benefit under the regular old-age program would be increased from $44 to $50 a month, compared with the administration recommendation of $70.

The special benefit paid certain persons 72 and older with insufficient coverage for the regular program would be increased from $35 to $40 a month for a single person, from $52.50 to $60 a month for a couple.

The committee scaled down the administration-proposed increases by a total of $1.2 billion, members said, to avoid having to raise payroll taxes as high as those would have required. Such a raise, they said, would have been excessive when added to the income tax increase also proposed by Johnson.

The committee bill would raise the payroll taxes for Social Security benefits, including medicare, by a double operation. The wage base on which the tax is levied, now $6,600, would be increased next Jan. 1 to $7,600.

The present rate of 4.4 per cent each for employe and employer would not be changed, however, until 1969. Thereafter the built-in rate increases in the law would be revised upward so that the ultimate top, effective in 1987, would be 5.9 per cent instead of 5.65 per cent.

There would be no tax increase next year for those earning no more than $6,600, and a maximum increase of $44 for any wage earner. But by 1969 the maximum tax would be $364.80 instead of $323.40 and it would increase by stages to $448.40 in 1987 as against the $372.90 contemplated in the present law.

What Tax Bill Means To Schools In County

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Columbiana County schools would receive a $2.7 million biennial increase in state aid under provisions of an education - tax package adopted Wednesday by the Ohio Senate.

According to calculations made by the Ohio Department of Education, East Liverpool schools would pick up an additional $370,886 a year over the next two years and Wellsville schools $135,990.

Additionally, East Liverpool would get $19,200 over the biennium in a special subsidy based on the number of students from families on Aid to Dependent Children (ADC).

According to Sen. John Longsworth, R-Salem, who supported the education - tax bill Wednesday, an additional 7 mills in East Liverpool and 2.7 mills in Salem would have to be levied in real property taxes to match the increases coming to the districts under the bill.

Following is the State Board of Education's Assessment of what the bill as passed by the Senate would mean to Columbiana County school districts.

The first figure is the annual state aid and the second, in parentheses, is the per year increase.

The allocations are not expected to be lowered in the House, Senate leadership has stated.

Court Orders Jail Sentence In Beer Theft

LISBON — Charles L. Drakulich, 19, of 2305 Oak St., Salem, was sentenced to six months in the County Jail Wednesday in Juvenile Court for contributing to the delinquency of two Salem boys, 16 and 17.

Judge Louis Tobin suspended four months of the sentence on condition Drakulich does not associate with any child under 18, abstains from drinking intoxicants and is of good behavior.

Court authorities said Drakulich was with the boys who attempted to steal two six packs of beer from Corso's Wine Shop on E. State St., Salem, Tuesday evening, and was with the boys earlier when they consumed a quantity of beer.

The juveniles were charged with being delinquent children. One of the boys said he went to the front of Corso's store to order a package of gum and the other boy went to the rear entrance and carried out beer.

When Michael Corso, proprietor, saw what was going on, he shouted to the boy to bring back the beer. The two juveniles struggled with Corso when he tried to call police and the 17-year-old pulled the telephone loose from the wall.

The police dispatcher sent a car to the store and officers apprehended the 17-year-old and Drakulich in his car at the rear of the store. The other boy ran away and was not apprehended until Wednesday, having stayed away from home all night.

Police said the 17-year-old created a disturbance in the City Hall jail cell. Judge Tobin placed him in temporary custody of the Ohio Youth Commission. Disposition of the case will be made when the court receives the OYC report.

The court ordered the 16-year-old to spend a week in detention, placed him on a 9 p.m. curfew for six months and suspended his driver's license for 60 days.

Driver, 18, Cited As Auto Strikes Local Police Car

Frank C. Tice, 18, of 844 Lisbon St. was cited early today after his 1965 model convertible struck the rear of a halted police cruiser at Broadway and St. Clair Ave., police reported.

Tice's auto bumped a 1964 model four-door police car driven by Lt. Robert B. Pyle, who was halted for a traffic light at the intersection, officers said. The collision, timed at 1:14, damaged the front end and radiator of Tice's car and the rear bumper and tail light of the police car.

Tice was cited by Patrolman James Buckley on a charge of starting a motor vehicle without ascertaining that the movement could be made with safety. He pleaded guilty this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who continued the case until Aug. 10 for sentencing to give Tice an opportunity to reimburse the city for the damage to the car.

Tice and three witnesses, all passengers in his auto, said that the Tice car hit the police car in the rear, officers said. He told the judge this morning he apparently started too quickly when the traffic light changed.

of the Boyces, but the commissioners refused to appoint them. On or about June 1, a request was made to the state to hold another examination and to certify another eligible list.

"Subsequent to that request," the Boyces state, "the time, place and manner being unknown to the relators (Boyces), said respondents (commissioners) without taking appropriate and valid board action," asked the state to delete the requirement of farming experience from the qualifications of the superintendent.

The notice of examination issued by the state made no mention of farming experience as a qualification for him.

THE MATTEVIS and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hiscox of Lisbon took the examination June 30 at Columbus and both couples passed. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce did not take the second examination, but by reason of their score in the first were certified again and placed on the new eligible list along with the Mattevis and Hiscoxes.

The Boyces said the commissioners' refusal to appoint them to the posts from the first eligible list certified to them May 9 "was a wilful disregard of the mandatory requirements imposed upon them by statute."

They further say the Department of State Personnel "wilfully disregarded the mandatory requirements imposed on it by certifying to the commissioners an eligible list containing the names of the Mattevis and Hiscoxes.

Commissioners James W. Boyd and Charles J. Gause voted to appoint the Mattevis. R. Max Gard opposed the appointment.

Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey received the appelate court's orders Wednesday and the commissioners received notice at their meeting this morning.

Storm

CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., to the Klondyke area, interrupting the television signal feed overnight and this morning.

Jack Hales, systems manager of CATV, said his crews began repair work this morning at 7, having had to wait until Ohio Power crews completed repairs to the power lines.

A citywide outage of the CATV's service occurred for almost two hours last night due to the power failure at the 2nd St. substation Hales said. The lack of power hit the amplifiers of the television cables, he pointed out. Service was restored about 7:45 p.m.

City street department crews worked until midnight cleaning up the worst of the storm damage. They sawed up a tree which fell onto the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." and also removed limbs from Monaca St. and Laurel Ln.

ADDING TO Wednesday's traffic woes was the tieup for nine hours on the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Road which resulted when a large tractor - trailer rig upset one half mile west of the Ohio - Pennsylvania Line.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the truck, operated by Bruce Streb of Hubbard, was eastbound and went off the right side of the highway, continuing along the berm for some 200 feet.

The rig then overturned, blocking the breadth of the road, with the cab hanging over an embankment on the north side of Route 430.

The driver was unhurt, but the road remained blocked until two large wreckers finally righted the lime-loaded rig about 7 this morning. Part of the cargo had to be spilled to facilitate the righting operation.

Crews remained at the scene until late this morning, removing lime from the highway. The truck is owned by the Dart Trucking Co. of North Lima.

St. Clair Township constables who arrived at the scene at 10 last night when the mishap occurred, wre burdened by the additional problem of re-routing the mass of autos which had chosen the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd. as a way into Midland after learning of the traffic blockage on Route 39 in East Liverpool.

—:—

IN CHESTER, firemen, police, power and street crews were called into action to clean up after the storm.

An uprooted tree toppled into the home of Mrs. Ada Wright at 208 California Ave., another tree was blown down in Church Alley and a swing went crashing through a window in a home in the Mill Addition.

The water pump at the community's east end pumping station was reported out of service for a time.

Somehow, Wellsville apparently escaped not only damage from last night's storm, but missed the weather itself.

It did not even rain downriver, a check disclosed.

Court Orders Jail Sentence In Beer Theft

LISBON — Charles L. Drakulich, 19, of 2305 Oak St., Salem, was sentenced to six months in the County Jail Wednesday in Juvenile Court for contributing to the delinquency of two Salem boys, 16 and 17.

Judge Louis Tobin suspended four months of the sentence on condition Drakulich does not associate with any child under 18, abstains from drinking intoxicants and is of good behavior.

Court authorities said Drakulich was with the boys who attempted to steal two six packs of beer from Corso's Wine Shop on E. State St., Salem, Tuesday evening, and was with the boys earlier when they consumed a quantity of beer.

The juveniles were charged with being delinquent children. One of the boys said he went to the front of Corso's store to order a package of gum and the other boy went to the rear entrance and carried out beer.

When Michael Corso, proprietor, saw what was going on, he shouted to the boy to bring back the beer. The two juveniles struggled with Corso when he tried to call police and the 17-year-old pulled the telephone loose from the wall.

The police dispatcher sent a car to the store and officers apprehended the 17-year-old and Drakulich in his car at the rear of the store. The other boy ran away and was not apprehended until Wednesday, having stayed away from home all night.

Police said the 17-year-old created a disturbance in the City Hall jail cell. Judge Tobin placed him in temporary custody of the Ohio Youth Commission. Disposition of the case will be made when the court receives the OYC report.

The court ordered the 16-year-old to spend a week in detention, placed him on a 9 p.m. curfew for six months and suspended his driver's license for 60 days.

Driver, 18, Cited As Auto Strikes Local Police Car

Frank C. Tice, 18, of 844 Lisbon St. was cited early today after his 1965 model convertible struck the rear of a halted police cruiser at Broadway and St. Clair Ave., police reported.

Tice's auto bumped a 1964 model four-door police car driven by Lt. Robert B. Pyle, who was halted for a traffic light at the intersection, officers said. The collision, timed at 1:14, damaged the front end and radiator of Tice's car and the rear bumper and tail light of the police car.

Tice was cited by Patrolman James Buckley on a charge of starting a motor vehicle without ascertaining that the movement could be made with safety. He pleaded guilty this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who continued the case until Aug. 10 for sentencing to give Tice an opportunity to reimburse the city for the damage to the car.

Tice and three witnesses, all passengers in his auto, said that the Tice car hit the police car in the rear, officers said. He told the judge this morning he apparently started too quickly when the traffic light changed.

of the Boyces, but the commissioners refused to appoint them. On or about June 1, a request was made to the state to hold another examination and to certify another eligible list.

"Subsequent to that request," the Boyces state, "the time, place and manner being unknown to the relators (Boyces), said respondents (commissioners) without taking appropriate and valid board action," asked the state to delete the requirement of farming experience from the qualifications of the superintendent.

The notice of examination issued by the state made no mention of farming experience as a qualification for him.

THE MATTEVIS and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hiscox of Lisbon took the examination June 30 at Columbus and both couples passed. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce did not take the second examination, but by reason of their score in the first were certified again and placed on the new eligible list along with the Mattevis and Hiscoxes.

The Boyces said the commissioners' refusal to appoint them to the posts from the first eligible list certified to them May 9 "was a wilful disregard of the mandatory requirements imposed upon them by statute."

They further say the Department of State Personnel "wilfully disregarded the mandatory requirements imposed on it by certifying to the commissioners an eligible list containing the names of the Mattevis and Hiscoxes.

Commissioners James W. Boyd and Charles J. Gause voted to appoint the Mattevis. R. Max Gard opposed the appointment.

Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey received the appelate court's orders Wednesday and the commissioners received notice at their meeting this morning.

CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., to the Klondyke area, interrupting the television signal feed overnight and this morning.

Jack Hales, systems manager of CATV, said his crews began repair work this morning at 7, having had to wait until Ohio Power crews completed repairs to the power lines.

A citywide outage of the CATV's service occurred for almost two hours last night due to the power failure at the 2nd St. substation Hales said. The lack of power hit the amplifiers of the television cables, he pointed out. Service was restored about 7:45 p.m.

City street department crews worked until midnight cleaning up the worst of the storm damage. They sawed up a tree which fell onto the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." and also removed limbs from Monaca St. and Laurel Ln.

ADDING TO Wednesday's traffic woes was the tieup for nine hours on the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Road which resulted when a large tractor - trailer rig upset one half mile west of the Ohio - Pennsylvania Line.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the truck, operated by Bruce Streb of Hubbard, was eastbound and went off the right side of the highway, continuing along the berm for some 200 feet.

The rig then overturned, blocking the breadth of the road, with the cab hanging over an embankment on the north side of Route 430.

The driver was unhurt, but the road remained blocked until two large wreckers finally righted the lime-loaded rig about 7 this morning. Part of the cargo had to be spilled to facilitate the righting operation.

Crews remained at the scene until late this morning, removing lime from the highway. The truck is owned by the Dart Trucking Co. of North Lima.

16,000 Gallons Reported Hauled

Chester Board Censures Legislator In Water Case

Chester's Water and Sewage Board Wednesday night censured Councilman Robert Kincaid after he reportedly gave 16,000 gallons of water to a rural Hancock County resident last week.

The subject was broached by board member Roy Cashdollar, who informed the board Kincaid had hauled the water in four trips, using a gasoline tank truck which he drives. The water, according to Cashdollar and other members who said they had learned of the incident, was used to fill a swimming pool.

CASHDOLLAR said the situation came to light last week when residents in the western end of Chester complained of extremely low water pressure. Cashdollar and Charles Kology said there was no water service at all to that area for about six hours.

The board learned Kincaid took the water from a fire plug at 4th St. and Carolina Ave., without authorization

Cashdollar's resolution also stipulated the property owner, who was not identified, be billed for the water at the current rate of 70 cents per 1,000 gallons — $11.20.

The board pointed out the city normally sells water to farmers and the Lawrenceville Fire Department and will be glad to do so for others, but a clearance must be obtained and the sale approved by the board.

Cashdollar said the property owner first had asked the fire department to haul the water, but members decided against it because it would have taken 27 trips to complete the job with the largest pumper.

Kincaid reportedly told the property owner all he need do was make a donation to the fire department.

Board members explained when water is sold it is taken from a fire hydrant at 9th and Carolina so as not to drain the city's system.

They were uncertain as to the exact date of the illicit sale, but said it was about a week ago and said they first learned of the incident through Lewis Govey, Water Department superintendent.

IN OTHER actions, the board will request the Water Department to clean the reservoir on Aug. 12. Seven to 10 men will be used for the project, which will take nearly six hours to complete.

Mayor Burton Ward told the board a letter has been received from the sinking fund containing a check for $10,000 to cover the cost of installation of a new pump at the east end pumping station and repairs to the emergency pumping facilities.

Bills from the Pennsylvania Drilling Co. for the pump and work performed also has been received along with a bill for the brace under a main water line running to the reservoir.

Ward said the pump was delivered Monday.

The board will accept bids for its installation until Aug. 16 when it will hold a special meeting to award a contract.

Members said any companies wishing to bid may leave their estimates at the Water Department offices in City Hall.

The board voted to request that Albert Murphy of Charles St. take action to curb odors from an outdoor toilet on his property. The members said "they were sympathetic to the situation," but explained residents in the area have been complaining. They suggested lime or a similar substance could be used to alleviate the situation.

Members said if something is not done, the county Health Department will have to be called into the situation.

Member Jack Allison informed the board he has written to Follansbee city officials relative to the operation of the Water Department there in the hope it may assist him in an analysis of the Chester department.

Tax

the items that should have been considered separately."

Turner said language in one of the tax proposals defining limitations on exemptions in the sales tax on manufacturers was one item that made it next to impossible to estimate revenue.

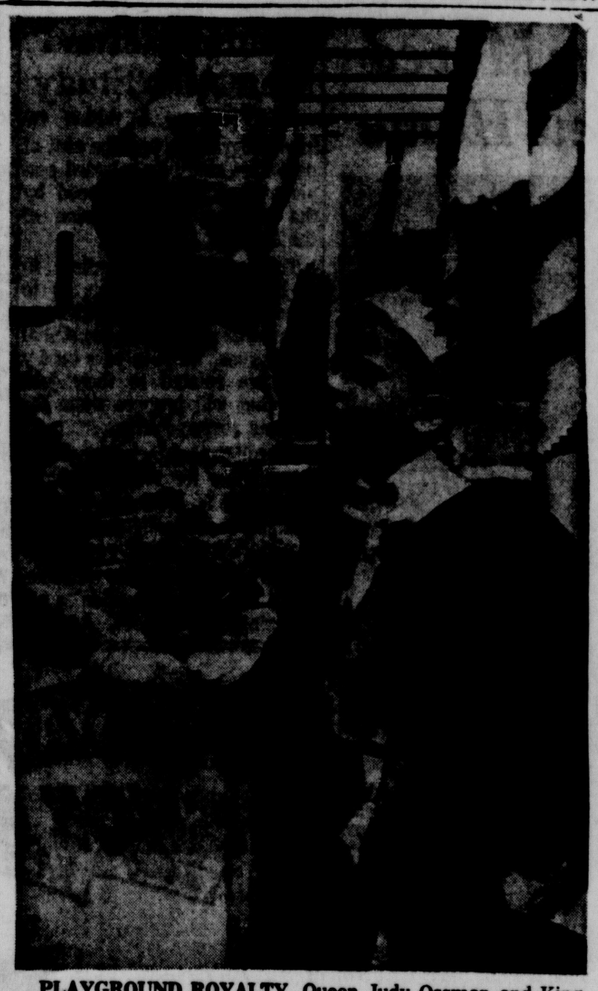
Court decisions will determine exactly what is exempt but tax experts have estimated the yield could be $120 million a year, or $240 million for the biennium. This would be in addition to the $308 million estimated by Collins.

Turner said administration spokesmen already "have admitted" the yield will be at least $180 million a year "because the proposed increase from 3 to 4 per cent in the sales tax would bring the tax to about 4.6 per cent because of changes in the tax brackets. The bracket for initial collection of the tax would be lowered from 31 cents to 16 cents and other brackets within dollars also would come down.

Besides the boost in the sales tax, it would be expanded to include sale of beer and malt liquor, dry cleaning and other items.

In addition, there would be a three-cent increase in the five-cents-a-pack tax on cigarettes, and the Liquor Department would be authorized to increase its liquor markup from 30 to 35 per cent.

More than 3½ hours of floor debate followed party caucuses of four hours and ten minutes on the 96-page bill.



PLAYGROUND ROYALTY. Queen Judy Ossman and King Gregory Eskra reigned over festivities at the Jack Owen playground Wednesday afternoon and night at Chester. Judy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ossman of 1024 Neptune Ave., and Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eskra of 1024 Phoenix Ave., led a parade at 1:30 around the block and then participated in the annual carnival at 6 p.m.

Treated and released at Salem City Hospital were Harry Jenks, 17, of Pittsburgh; Denny Early, 16, of Coraopolis and Richard Feld, 17, of McKees Rocks.

All five were reportedly counselors at Camp Paul E. Deane in New Waterford.

The Ohio Highway Patrol is continuing an investigation.

Later, officers charged a Salineville man with driving at speeds excessive for conditions after his 1966 coach left the highway and sheared a telephone pole near Salem.

Richard H. Fergason, 22, of the West End, told the patrol he was southbound on Route 9, just south of Salem, at 2:50 a.m. today when he lost control of his auto.

The driver was not injured, although his car was heavily damaged.

The names that headed the police list: H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and his predecessor, Stokely Carmichael.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told the civil disorders commission he has no evidence there is a conspiracy behind urban disorders.

Police Chief Brice Kinnamon of Cambridge, Md., flatly blamed a July 24 riot in his city on Brown.

"I am confident that his speech was the sole reason for our riot," Kinnamon told the Judiciary Committee as he urged approval of a bill that would make it a federal crime to cross state lines with intent to incite riot.

Police Chief Jacob W. Schott of Cincinnati, Ohio, also advocated passage of the House-approved antiriot bill.

Council Sets Parking Ban In Industry

Revised parking regulations were set by Industry Council Wednesday night in order to facilitate movement of emergency vehicles in areas of the Willowvue Plan.

At the meeting at the Borough Building, Council placed a parking ban on Debbie Dr., Beaver Ave., and Friendship Dr. from midnight until 6 a. m. Parking will be prohibited on the western side of Debbie Dr., the southern side of Beaver Ave., and the eastern side of Friendship Dr. during other hours of the day.

Firemen made a test run with a fire truck and learned that it was extremely difficult to take a large piece of equipment through the streets when cars are parked on both sides. In the event of a fire, this would create a hazard. The restrictions will become effective as soon as signs are installed, Council said.

The secretary was instructed to advertise for bids on painting the interiors of Post Office and Borough buildings.

Homer Paul, Council president, announced that he had appointed three members of Council and three of the borough planning commission to investigate possible recreation sites and the purchase of them by the borough.

Named were James Muns, vice president of Council, Councilmen Clyde Piquet and Thomas Hanner, James McGhee, chairman of the planning commission, and Robert Cowan and Clyde Kight, members. McGhee and Muns are co-chairmen of the new committee.

The police report of Mayor Steve Suchanec for July listed 23 complaints, two accidents, three arrests, four warnings, and 3,106 miles logged on the police cruiser.

Mayor Suchanec recommended that stop signs be erected at the intersections of Avondale Dr. and Pine Grove Rd. and Ohioview Dr. and Pine Grove Rd. Since Pine Grove Rd. is a state road, the Mayor said he would talk with state officials to see if they will erect the signs.

A petition signed by 40 residents from the Industry - Fairview Rd., requested Council to post 35-40 miles per hour signs on the road because of excessive speeding. Since part of the road is in Industry Borough and part is in Ohioville Borough, Council appointed Piquet to talk with Ohioville officials to see if they will post the same speed limits on their portion of the road. Since this is also a state road, Council would petition the State Highways Department to erect the signs in the event the plan is approved.

Bills totaling $4,404 were approved for payment.

"Over a five-year period, small corporations, as well as large, would become current in their tax payments in the same way as individual proprietors already are," he said.

He said such accelerated collections would yield $800 million additional revenue in fiscal 1968 and "somewhat more in subsequent years."

Johnson also recommended "continuation of excise taxes for the immediate future."

The seven per cent manufacturers excise tax on autos is now scheduled to drop to two per cent April 1, 1968, and one per cent Jan. 1, 1969.

"The drop to two per cent should be postponed to July 1, 1969, and the drop to one per cent should be postponed to Jan. 1, 1970," Johnson's message said.

16,000 Gallons Reported Hauled

Chester Board Censures Legislator In Water Case

Chester's Water and Sewage Board Wednesday night censured Councilman Robert Kincaid after he reportedly gave 16,000 gallons of water to a rural Hancock County resident last week.

The subject was broached by board member Roy Cashdollar, who informed the board Kincaid had hauled the water in four trips, using a gasoline tank truck which he drives. The water, according to Cashdollar and other members who said they had learned of the incident, was used to fill a swimming pool.

CASHDOLLAR said the situation came to light last week when residents in the western end of Chester complained of extremely low water pressure. Cashdollar and Charles Kology said there was no water service at all to that area for about six hours.

The board learned Kincaid took the water from a fire plug at 4th St. and Carolina Ave., without authorization

Cashdollar's resolution also stipulated the property owner, who was not identified, be billed for the water at the current rate of 70 cents per 1,000 gallons — $11.20.

The board pointed out the city normally sells water to farmers and the Lawrenceville Fire Department and will be glad to do so for others, but a clearance must be obtained and the sale approved by the board.

Cashdollar said the property owner first had asked the fire department to haul the water, but members decided against it because it would have taken 27 trips to complete the job with the largest pumper.

Kincaid reportedly told the property owner all he need do was make a donation to the fire department.

Board members explained when water is sold it is taken from a fire hydrant at 9th and Carolina so as not to drain the city's system.

They were uncertain as to the exact date of the illicit sale, but said it was about a week ago and said they first learned of the incident through Lewis Govey, Water Department superintendent.

IN OTHER actions, the board will request the Water Department to clean the reservoir on Aug. 12. Seven to 10 men will be used for the project, which will take nearly six hours to complete.

Mayor Burton Ward told the board a letter has been received from the sinking fund containing a check for $10,000 to cover the cost of installation of a new pump at the east end pumping station and repairs to the emergency pumping facilities.

Bills from the Pennsylvania Drilling Co. for the pump and work performed also has been received along with a bill for the brace under a main water line running to the reservoir.

Ward said the pump was delivered Monday.

The board will accept bids for its installation until Aug. 16 when it will hold a special meeting to award a contract.

Members said any companies wishing to bid may leave their estimates at the Water Department offices in City Hall.

The board voted to request that Albert Murphy of Charles St. take action to curb odors from an outdoor toilet on his property. The members said "they were sympathetic to the situation," but explained residents in the area have been complaining. They suggested lime or a similar substance could be used to alleviate the situation.

Members said if something is not done, the county Health Department will have to be called into the situation.

Member Jack Allison informed the board he has written to Follansbee city officials relative to the operation of the Water Department there in the hope it may assist him in an analysis of the Chester department.

the items that should have been considered separately."

Turner said language in one of the tax proposals defining limitations on exemptions in the sales tax on manufacturers was one item that made it next to impossible to estimate revenue.

Court decisions will determine exactly what is exempt but tax experts have estimated the yield could be $120 million a year, or $240 million for the biennium. This would be in addition to the $308 million estimated by Collins.

Turner said administration spokesmen already "have admitted" the yield will be at least $180 million a year "because the proposed increase from 3 to 4 per cent in the sales tax would bring the tax to about 4.6 per cent because of changes in the tax brackets. The bracket for initial collection of the tax would be lowered from 31 cents to 16 cents and other brackets within dollars also would come down.

Besides the boost in the sales tax, it would be expanded to include sale of beer and malt liquor, dry cleaning and other items.

In addition, there would be a three-cent increase in the five-cents-a-pack tax on cigarettes, and the Liquor Department would be authorized to increase its liquor markup from 30 to 35 per cent.

More than 3½ hours of floor debate followed party caucuses of four hours and ten minutes on the 96-page bill.

Treated and released at Salem City Hospital were Harry Jenks, 17, of Pittsburgh; Denny Early, 16, of Coraopolis and Richard Feld, 17, of McKees Rocks.

All five were reportedly counselors at Camp Paul E. Deane in New Waterford.

The Ohio Highway Patrol is continuing an investigation.

Later, officers charged a Salineville man with driving at speeds excessive for conditions after his 1966 coach left the highway and sheared a telephone pole near Salem.

Richard H. Fergason, 22, of the West End, told the patrol he was southbound on Route 9, just south of Salem, at 2:50 a.m. today when he lost control of his auto.

The driver was not injured, although his car was heavily damaged.

The picnic will be held Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the third pavilion. The committee for the event will be Mrs. McVay, Mrs. Patty Eberhart, Miss Sherri McKinley, Miss Shirley Hart and Mrs. Jane Bird. New officers will be installed.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told the civil disorders commission he has no evidence there is a conspiracy behind urban disorders.

Police Chief Brice Kinnamon of Cambridge, Md., flatly blamed a July 24 riot in his city on Brown.

"I am confident that his speech was the sole reason for our riot," Kinnamon told the Judiciary Committee as he urged approval of a bill that would make it a federal crime to cross state lines with intent to incite riot.

Police Chief Jacob W. Schott of Cincinnati, Ohio, also advocated passage of the House-approved antiriot bill.

Crash Hurts 3 Leetonians

Three young men from the Leetonia area were injured late Wednesday night when their car veered off Route 172 in the Guilford Lake area and struck an embankment.

The 1957 coach driven by Melvin Eugene Bricker, 21, of Leetonia RD 1, was headed east about 11:17 p.m. when the driver lost control at a curve and the auto left the highway, hitting the embankment.

Bricker and two passengers—Terry Gongaware, 19, and Melvin VanFossan, 21, both of Leetonia RD 1 — were taken to Salem City Hospital for treatment.

The right side of the car was damaged. Bricker was charged with speeding.

The undercarriage of a 1967 coach driven by Nelson Kelly, 25, of Calcutta was damaged when it went over a large stone along Leslie Rd. just east of Route 7 yesterday morning, officers reported.

Salineville Student Chosen As Counselor

SALINEVILLE — Miss Paulette S. Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kerr of 36 W. Main St., is serving as a counselor for the special camping sessions for crippled children and adults at Camp Pittenger, near Tiffin.

The camp is being sponsored for the 25th year by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults (the Easter Seal Society).

Miss Kerr is a junior at Kent State University, where she is enrolled in special education, preparing for teaching the slow-learning child. She is a member of Alpha Phi, for which she is philanthrophy chairman, and belongs to the Student Activity Board. This year she is one of six Kent State students who are receiving six hours university credit for their work experience at the special camp.

New York's Empire State building was completed in 1931.

Evicted Strays Moved Into Their New Home

Six stray dogs evicted Wednesday morning from the former pound at the sewage treatment plant in West End were moved about 4 p. m. yesterday to the old incinerator department plant at the foot of Washington St., Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey reported.

Vodrey marshaled three street department employes, a truck and Dog Warden Harold Flowers, shown above with one of the animals, to move the dogs and their cages to their new home. Council has discussed repairing the old incinerator plant for permanent use as a pound.

Charles Huddlestun, sewage department superintendent, and his crew moved the dogs and cages from a brick garage building at the sewage plant that had served as a pound for several years. Huddlestun had called upon the city to vacate the pound by Aug. 1.

Cincinnati Concern Schedules Expansion

'Tuition Refund' Plan Aids Study

WEIRTON — A tuition refund program to pay the cost of part-time study by salaried employes has been announced by the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp.

The purpose, according to J. H. Harris, chairman, is to encourage qualified employes to pursue, at approved educational institutions, courses of study that are related to their jobs and that will prepare them for greater responsibility.

All full-time salaried employes are eligible for the program if they have at least one year of continuous company service and a satisfactory work record.

The program will be administered by the Education and Training Department. Applications are available in the office of Frank L. Maus, director of management development and training.

An approved student may take courses that will occupy his spare time for no more than two evenings a week, or its equivalent. No courses can be taken on the company's time. When the student has successfully completed a course, the full tuition and classroom fees will be refunded by the company.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It is 2:30 a.m. Mom and Dad are still staggering around, screaming at each other. The last guest just left. I helped shove her out the door. Before leaving she managed to drop her drink in the vestibule and I had to clean up the broken glass. My parents were too smashed to notice.

I'm writing because I know I won't be able to sleep until dawn. After a party like this Mom and Dad fight all night. She accuses him of making passes at other women and he says she is crazy and he is going to put her in a mental institution.

I'm a 17-year-old boy and have been offered two full scholarships in another state. But I'm afraid to leave home because I don't know what will become of my brothers and my little sister if I go away. Yet I know I must get a college education because at the rate my parents are going they will be dead of alcoholism before the younger kids are grown. I have to get myself educated so I can take care of them.

I'm not writing for advice. I know you can't help people who won't help themselves and my parents insist they are not alcoholics. They call themselves "social drinkers". But thanks Ann, for letting me get this off my chest. I needed someone to talk to.—RX?

Dear RX?: I'm printing your letter in the hope that the thousands of "social drinkers" who stagger around and fight until dawn will recognize themselves. In the meantime, I hope you will write to Alateen for literature. The address is Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, N.Y. 10010. Kids with boozing parents need to know a lot of things and this organization can help them. Good luck, fella.

Early Starter

Dear Ann: I'm an 11-year-old boy in the fifth grade. I called a girl who is in my room at school and asked her if she would accept a roller skating date with me for Saturday afternoon. She said yes.

That night my mother told my father about it and he said no 11-year-old kid should go on a date. He made me call the girl and cancel.

I was going to use my own money which I earned. My Mom had agreed to drive me and the girl to the rink and drive us home. This would have been in the afternoon. A man supervises the kids at the rink at all times.

Please tell me if you agree with me and my mother or if you agree with my father. If you agree with me and my mother, I'll show my father your answer and try for next Saturday.—STEPHEN.

Dear Stephen: Sorry, but I'm with your father. Eleven-year-old kids should not be dating even if it is only an afternoon at the roller-rink.

After three or four rink dates, you'll want to go to the movies. Then you will want to make a lunch date. Next you will want to take her to dinner. When you reach the age of 12 you will want to go steady. By the time you're 14 there'll be nothing left to do but get engaged.

Stick to the fellas for a few more years, Steve. You won't regret it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mao Backers, Foes Battle In Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — Travelers from Red China today reported bloody fighting between more than 20,000 supporters and foes of Mao Tsi-tung in Hunan, Mao's native province.

One informant said, "The clash has been going on for seven days."

Chinese sources here said clashes between pro-and anti-Mao elements in Hunan, Shangtung and Kwantung provinces and struggles in Shanghai and the Wuhan district indicate that China is in a state of anarchy.

The anti-Communist newspaper Ming Pao, quoting visitors from Canton, said many storage depots were occupied by anti-Maoists in that metropolis after bitter fighting between Red Guards and train workers. The paper said bodies still litered the streets in Canton and hospitals were jammed.

The Peking correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun quoted an unidentified source as saying Peking's Revolutionary Committee—the capital's highest provisional authority—has asked Communist party headquarters to oust President Liu Shao-chi from his home and hand him over to the committee by Saturday noon.

The report said the party presumably would comply and Liu would be hauled before a mass criticism rally.

Strikes Pose Deep Crisis In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Tiny Uruguay sank deeper into crisis today as strikes for more pay increased, electric power cuts chilled homes and business houses, and food shortages showed no sign of easing.

At least 200,000 government workers were on full or partial strike to press demands for a 40 per cent pay boost to offset a similar rise in the cost of living. President Oscar Gestido's government, already deep in the red, claims it cannot meet the wage demands. Union leaders claim the government plans to freeze wages.

Gestido moved toward a showdown with the 400,000-member leftist National Workers Convention, the CNT, which engineered the strikes as part of a war of nerves against the government.

High school teachers walked out today. Partial stoppages by state telephone employes disrupted long distance service.

The railways, the state oil, alcohol and cement monopoly and other state - owned enterprises also were hit by stoppages, sitdowns, slowdowns and "working to rules."

With winter's freezing weather gripping the capital, power cuts of three to four hours daily worked a particular hardship in a city largely dependent on electricity for heating and cooking.

The food supply has been cut by severe summer drought, fall floods and heavy frost which badly damaged crops. Supermarkets are rationing milk, one bottle per buyer, and housewives have to stand in line for two hours to get it.

Their thumbs are always handier than a nipple or pacifier and helps them not to be irritable when wet or tired. They take the place of continuous petting. There are no apparent problems caused by infant thumb sucking.

After youngsters are older than two years and certainly when they become four or five years old, your pediatrician should be consulted if thumb sucking persists. It can not only be an embarrassment, but actually change the shape of a child's mouth. Your pediatrician can suggest one of the preventives we carry against thumb sucking.

U.S., Soviet Aided Peking Drive For Nuclear Power

Behind the rapid development of Red China's nuclear power is a strange story of inadvertent help—from both the United States and Soviet Union. This tangled background is explored in the second of three articles on Peking's H-bomb success.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
and
ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Both America and the Soviet Union gave significant help to China's drive for nuclear power.

America helped by training highly skilled scientists and then deporting them to a China under communism. Russia helped by sending scientists, technicians and materials to China and training Chinese in Russia.

Now both were appalled at the prospect of an unstable China possessing nuclear-tipped missiles, a hydrogen bomb and potential for quick development of long-range rockets. Ironically, both were haunted by the same question: by how many years did their help speed up the Chinese timetable?

Eventually China, with a wealth of talented people and natural resources, would have made it on her own. But in 32 months she had marched from A-bomb to H-bomb in a third the time it had taken the United States.

Before communism, Americans, British and French considered China a friend and ally. After communism, Russia treated China as an ally, vowing "eternal friendship." Today Peking is implacably hostile to America, calls the Soviet regime "enemy No. 1," vows publicly to support brush-fire wars which could lead to catastrophe, and to aid the spread of nuclear weapons.

American help to China dates back as much as 30 years. Soviet help dates to the 1950s after communism seized China.

Before World War II, there was a heavy influx of Chinese students into the United States. By 1950, more than 3,000 Chinese were on top U.S. campuses.

Many remained after communism took over the mainland. Some were lured back by threats. Some were disheartened by a U.S. climate they considered hostile to Orientals. Some were frightened by the era of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and his celebrated hunt for Communists. Some probably left out of sympathy for a Communist China, some for a combination of all those factors.

About 80 men whose U.S. training could contribute much to a nuclear program went back. Their roles would be significant.

Russia trained many engineers, technicians and scientists for the nuclear drive. Moscow extended important help in an "atoms for peace" agreement. Soviet scientists worked with Chinese in China, even selected the site for prospective testing.

The roll of Chinese scientists who went home from America, laden with know-how and often with bitterness, is impressive.

Among them were: Dr. Chao Chung-yao, outstanding physicist, alumnus of the California Institute of Technology, veteran of 24 years research in the United States and once an official observer at U.S. A-bomb tests; Dr. Tsien Hsue-shen, brilliant Caltech alumnus considered one of the world's top rocket researchers, who undoubtedly had a key part in marrying China's nuclear warhead to a missile.

One of the most intriguing stories was that of Dr. Tsien. He arrived in America in 1935 to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1936 he transferred to Caltech, fascinated by the study of rocket propulsion in the days when it was regarded as science fiction. So brilliant was his performance that during World War II Tsien became head of the rocket section of the U.S. National Defense Scientific Advisory Board under Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold of the Air Corps. With the rank of Air Corps colonel, Tsien went to Germany after the Nazi surrender to probe secrets of Hitler's rocket scientists.

Tsien became Goddard professor of jet propulsion at Caltech and head of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. In 1949 he filed notice of intention to become a U.S. citizen, evidently deciding to stay in America where his two children were born.

In the summer of 1950 Tsien's security clearance for sensitive work was lifted. The reason: 12 years before, Tsien's friends had included scientists and others whom the government later would call members of a Communist party unit. A party registration in Tsien's name was found by an undercover agent, but not in Tsien's handwriting and without his signature. He denied having registered. The undercover agent himself testified anyone could register a desirable candidate for membership without the subject's knowldege.

After two weeks behind bars, Tsien was released in bail. Hearings dragged into the spring of 1951. He was declared deportable but he was far too valuable to deport. For five years, forbidden to leave, Tsien continued teaching and turning out brilliant papers, though removed from sensitive work. Colleagues refused to believe he ever was a Communist.

Suddenly in 1955 the government deported Tsien and his family, along with 39 Chinese students mostly in graduate scientific work. As soon as he arrived in Red China, Tsien was put to work on missile research.

Without men from America and Europe, China would have taken much longer to produce bombs and missiles. She had been severely short of senior scientists.

In the World War II period, at one time or another, 10,000 Chinese students had been in the United States, the majority studying modern technologies. Many wanted to stay. Many did.

Peking, under Mao Tse-tung, desperately wanted senior scientists. Letters poured in on the Chinese scientists in America, threatening relatives in China, denouncing U.S. attitudes, picturing a new day dawning in China, promising the best of everything to those who would return. The campaign succeeded. By the end of 1952, about 1,500 students left the United States for China. In 1955, when U.S. officialdom decided passage of time had made their knowledge less dangerous to U.S. security—as in Tsien's case—scores were deported.

Red China nagged Big Brother in Moscow for nuclear help. Moscow and Peking agreed on joint activity, including a cooperative rare metals corporation in Sinkiang. The Russians installed a plant to process Sinkiang's uranium ore. Russia would refine it.

In 1955, Moscow under Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed to a program of "scientific-technical cooperation" and "peaceful uses of atomic energy." Russian help included a 7,000-kilowatt capacity reactor, a cyclotron and fissionable materials.

The Chinese began to move swiftly, and Moscow began to worry. In 1957, Khrushchev had signed an agreement promising China a sample A-bomb and data on how to manufacture it. But Mao frightened Khrushchev.

In a Moscow speech in November that year, Mao said that "if the worst came to the worst and half of mankind should die in nuclear war the other half would remain, while imperialism would be razed to the ground, and the whole world would become Socialist."

Khrushchev's repeated references to this made clear he had heard it with horror as a demonstration of Chinese recklessness. He kept Peking guessing until June, 1959, then tore up the agreement to give China a sample bomb.

China, without Soviet assistance, was in a position to move forward, despite Khrushchev's abrupt removal of 1,000 Soviet scientists and engineers. The Russians openly told China she was unprepared to enter the nuclear club and would do better to mend her economy. Soviet arguments got nowhere.

Then, in the fall of 1964, came two great upheavals, one technological, one political.

Moscow fired Khrushchev. The Chinese fired their first atom blast.

Reminder Issued On Refuse Rules

Health Commissioner Jack Bonner and Incinerator Supt. John Melvin joined today in issuing a seven-point reminder to householders on proper ways of storing refuse and garbage.

They asserted health hazards will be eased and the work of collection crews will be speeded if householders follow these suggestions:

Full cans should not be heavier than one man can lift — 60 pounds.

Have enough cans to hold all refuse between collections.

Keep cans clean by frequent washing and spraying for insects when necessary.

Keep lids on cans; open cans and scattered garbage invite rats.

Do not burn garbage. It is foolish to burn the refuse when the city has a regular collection schedule.

Do not use cardboard boxes or baskets or open tubs for garbage containers.

The area around the garbage cans should be kept clean and attractive.

Democrat Committee Backs Mayor Locher

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Democratic Party Committee Wednesday night endorsed Mayor Ralph S. Locher for the Oct. 3 primary against State Rep. Carl B. Stokes and former Lakewood Mayor Frank P. Celeste.

Only Stokes showed up for the meeting.

When Albert S. Porter, Democratic chairman in Cuyahoga County, called for a standing vote, 17 stood up for Stokes. About 150 did for Locher.

Celeste's backers refused to let his name be placed in nomination, claiming it is too early to make a decision.

Leavittsburg Man Cited For Explosives

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Anthony Macaluso, 39, Leavittsburg, has been charged with unlawful possession of explosives. Sheriff's deputies said they found 212 pounds of stolen dynamite hidden in a garage rented by Macaluso. He also was charged with receiving stolen property.

Macaluso pleaded innocent to both charges at his arraignment Wednesday in Warren Municipal Court. His bond was set at $6,000.

Deputies said the dynamite was taken from the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corp.'s plant in Garrettsville.

Guard Foils Escape Attempt By Inmate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A guard wrestled to the floor Orville L. Davis, 24, Ohio Penitentiary inmate who tried to escape from University Hospital Wednesday where he was being checked for a back injury.

Warden Ernie Maxwell said Davis, serving 20 years to life for armed robbery and malicious entry in Montgomery and Hamilton counties, also made an attempt to escape last May.

Stop In Cincinnati Ends Trip By Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes stopped Wednesday at Coney Island in Cincinnati, winding up a day-long visit to scenic spots in Southern Ohio areas.

The trip was made by Rhodes newsmen and state officials in an effort to promote tourism in Ohio. The party visited Ross, Pike Highland and Adams county spots of interest.

'No Progress' In Railroads' Shop Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — No progress is reported in a presidential board's two-week-old efforts to resolve a shopcraft dispute that shut down the nation's railroads last month for two days.

"Not a comma has shifted so far," an informed source said Wednesday of the stances held for months by the railroads and six unions representing 137,000 workers.

Under a law passed by Congress July 17 to end the two-day walkout, the presidential board was given 30 days to bring about a negotiated settlement.

If it fails in that period, the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., must hold hearings over another 30-day period. If no agreement is reached during that period—or in the next 30 days—both sides in the dispute must accept the board's recommendations.

The unions still are demanding wage hikes of 6.5 per cent this year and 5 per cent next year, plus a 12.5-cent hourly hike each year for skilled workers. The railroads are sticking to their offer of 6 per cent over the life of an 18-month contract plus a 5-cent hike for skilled workers.

The unions involved represent machinists, electricians, boilermakers, sheet metal workers, carmen and firemen and oilers.

Puerto Ricans are American citizens and may vote in U.S. elections if they are residents of the mainland United States.

U.S., Soviet Aided Peking Drive For Nuclear Power

Behind the rapid development of Red China's nuclear power is a strange story of inadvertent help—from both the United States and Soviet Union. This tangled background is explored in the second of three articles on Peking's H-bomb success.

ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Both America and the Soviet Union gave significant help to China's drive for nuclear power.

America helped by training highly skilled scientists and then deporting them to a China under communism. Russia helped by sending scientists, technicians and materials to China and training Chinese in Russia.

Now both were appalled at the prospect of an unstable China possessing nuclear-tipped missiles, a hydrogen bomb and potential for quick development of long-range rockets. Ironically, both were haunted by the same question: by how many years did their help speed up the Chinese timetable?

Eventually China, with a wealth of talented people and natural resources, would have made it on her own. But in 32 months she had marched from A-bomb to H-bomb in a third the time it had taken the United States.

Before communism, Americans, British and French considered China a friend and ally. After communism, Russia treated China as an ally, vowing "eternal friendship." Today Peking is implacably hostile to America, calls the Soviet regime "enemy No. 1," vows publicly to support brush-fire wars which could lead to catastrophe, and to aid the spread of nuclear weapons.

American help to China dates back as much as 30 years. Soviet help dates to the 1950s after communism seized China.

Before World War II, there was a heavy influx of Chinese students into the United States. By 1950, more than 3,000 Chinese were on top U.S. campuses.

Many remained after communism took over the mainland. Some were lured back by threats. Some were disheartened by a U.S. climate they considered hostile to Orientals. Some were frightened by the era of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and his celebrated hunt for Communists. Some probably left out of sympathy for a Communist China, some for a combination of all those factors.

About 80 men whose U.S. training could contribute much to a nuclear program went back. Their roles would be significant.

Russia trained many engineers, technicians and scientists for the nuclear drive. Moscow extended important help in an "atoms for peace" agreement. Soviet scientists worked with Chinese in China, even selected the site for prospective testing.

The roll of Chinese scientists who went home from America, laden with know-how and often with bitterness, is impressive.

Among them were: Dr. Chao Chung-yao, outstanding physicist, alumnus of the California Institute of Technology, veteran of 24 years research in the United States and once an official observer at U.S. A-bomb tests; Dr. Tsien Hsue-shen, brilliant Caltech alumnus considered one of the world's top rocket researchers, who undoubtedly had a key part in marrying China's nuclear warhead to a missile.

One of the most intriguing stories was that of Dr. Tsien. He arrived in America in 1935 to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1936 he transferred to Caltech, fascinated by the study of rocket propulsion in the days when it was regarded as science fiction. So brilliant was his performance that during World War II Tsien became head of the rocket section of the U.S. National Defense Scientific Advisory Board under Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold of the Air Corps. With the rank of Air Corps colonel, Tsien went to Germany after the Nazi surrender to probe secrets of Hitler's rocket scientists.

Tsien became Goddard professor of jet propulsion at Caltech and head of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. In 1949 he filed notice of intention to become a U.S. citizen, evidently deciding to stay in America where his two children were born.

In the summer of 1950 Tsien's security clearance for sensitive work was lifted. The reason: 12 years before, Tsien's friends had included scientists and others whom the government later would call members of a Communist party unit. A party registration in Tsien's name was found by an undercover agent, but not in Tsien's handwriting and without his signature. He denied having registered. The undercover agent himself testified anyone could register a desirable candidate for membership without the subject's knowldege.

After two weeks behind bars, Tsien was released in bail. Hearings dragged into the spring of 1951. He was declared deportable but he was far too valuable to deport. For five years, forbidden to leave, Tsien continued teaching and turning out brilliant papers, though removed from sensitive work. Colleagues refused to believe he ever was a Communist.

Suddenly in 1955 the government deported Tsien and his family, along with 39 Chinese students mostly in graduate scientific work. As soon as he arrived in Red China, Tsien was put to work on missile research.

Without men from America and Europe, China would have taken much longer to produce bombs and missiles. She had been severely short of senior scientists.

Leavittsburg Man Cited For Explosives

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Anthony Macaluso, 39, Leavittsburg, has been charged with unlawful possession of explosives. Sheriff's deputies said they found 212 pounds of stolen dynamite hidden in a garage rented by Macaluso. He also was charged with receiving stolen property.

Macaluso pleaded innocent to both charges at his arraignment Wednesday in Warren Municipal Court. His bond was set at $6,000.

Deputies said the dynamite was taken from the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corp.'s plant in Garrettsville.

'No Progress' In Railroads' Shop Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — No progress is reported in a presidential board's two-week-old efforts to resolve a shopcraft dispute that shut down the nation's railroads last month for two days.

"Not a comma has shifted so far," an informed source said Wednesday of the stances held for months by the railroads and six unions representing 137,000 workers.

Under a law passed by Congress July 17 to end the two-day walkout, the presidential board was given 30 days to bring about a negotiated settlement.

If it fails in that period, the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., must hold hearings over another 30-day period. If no agreement is reached during that period—or in the next 30 days—both sides in the dispute must accept the board's recommendations.

The unions still are demanding wage hikes of 6.5 per cent this year and 5 per cent next year, plus a 12.5-cent hourly hike each year for skilled workers. The railroads are sticking to their offer of 6 per cent over the life of an 18-month contract plus a 5-cent hike for skilled workers.

The unions involved represent machinists, electricians, boilermakers, sheet metal workers, carmen and firemen and oilers.

Board Names School Aide At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Walter L. C. Bouve of West Mifflin, Pa., has been named principal at East Palestine High School, replacing Vincent Cooper who recently resigned to take an administrative post in Steubenville's school system.

Bouve, 46, has been a teacher at West Mifflin and holds a bachelor's and master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh, majoring in administration, history and guidance.

He is a graduate of Schenly High School at Pittsburgh and served 5½ years in the Navy during World War II.

The board of education has given him a two-year contract at $10,600.

He is married and has two children, Michelle Ann, 12, and Joel Lincoln, 4.

The family plans to move here shortly.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chief of naval operations says he plans to spend a lot of time working on the problem of keeping good officers in the Navy.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, 55, who took over his new job Tuesday, said improving educational opportunities and living conditions from Adm. David L.

Although Moorer didn't mention a pilot shortage in an interview Wednesday, he may have been alluding to the Navy's continuing pilot loss. Last year, 67 per cent of the naval aviators who left active duty were hired by the airlines at top salaries.

Earlier this year there was congressional testimony that the Navy was short 2,430 pilots but this week, Congress released Defense Department testimony to the effect that the shortage had been filled.

Moorer, an Alabama native, took over as chief of naval operations from AKDM. David L. MacDonald.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Dow Chemical Co. developed STP, the new hallucinatory drug popular with "hippies," says the Food and Drug Administration, but there was no solid information on how outsiders got the formula.

STP is considered four times more potent than LSD. About 4,000 tablets of STP showed up at a recent hippie gathering in San Francisco.

A Dow spokesman in Pittsburg, Calif., said the formula apparently was obtained from Dow's research center in Walnut Creek, Calif., part of the San Francisco bay area. He said the company has determined there are no shortages of the drug.

Like LSD, STP is considered dangerous by health officials when taken without medical supervision.

Store Identifies Missing Articles

LISBON — At least part of the miscellaneous merchandise found by a motorist Tuesday night along a township road near Columbiana came from Hills Department Store at the St. Clair Plaza.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said a store official came to the jail Wednesday and identified the new merchandise through store tags. The store had not had a burglary, he said.

There was no way to identify the used goods. The store official said they may have come from a Goodwill Industries receptacle outside the store. The pile contained purses, shoes, clothing and toys. He took everything — new and used — back to the store.

Arranged With State Dept.

California Planning Own Aid Program For Chile

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California plans its own foreign aid program for Chile after severing an aid arrangement with the U. S. State Department.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan says he has wiped out his state's partnership with the United States in an Alliance for Progress program to aid Chile.

"The State of California must proceed without further federal participation or assistance in the Chile-California program" Reagan told Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a letter Wednesday.

He accused the State Department of indecision, imposing too many restrictions and bureaucratic obstruction in handling the aid.

But the governor said he will try to continue the project—which offers technical assistance to Chile—by raising private funds in California.

William P. Clark, Reagan's cabinet secretary said California would proceed under a "lose agreement" to avoid the U. S. Constitution provision that "no state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation."

Clark said a major reason for the break was the State Department's rejection of Ray Long, assistant director of California's Agriculture Department, as the new head of California-Chile assistance.

Clark denied State Department assertions that Long is not fluent enough in Spanish or experienced enough in foreign affairs for the job. Clark said Long once conducted a training program in Texas for Latin-American pilots, and that he speaks Spanish well.

The state government also was unhappy about the federal government's trimming of the program's 1967-1968 budget from $280,000 to $175,000. Clark said there was apparently a lag in approving the $175,000.

The project has been in effect since 1963 with California providing the technical advice and assistance and the U. S. government the funds.

Orbiter 5 In 'Good Shape' For Photo Mission Of Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A delicate turnaround in space—combined with a precise, firm kick in the tail—put America's Lunar Orbiter 5 spacecraft into "mighty good shape" today for its photo mission of the moon.

"The midcourse maneuver was perfect, as far as we can tell at this point," a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration aaid.

Scientists controlling the craft's flight said it had less than 133,000 miles to go before it is dropped into orbit around the moon, where the camera package is to go into operation.

"The spacecraft was programmed to roll and pitch to orient it properly for the maneuver, which it did," the spokesman said.

"A 26-second burn of its steering rocket decreased its speed by 67 miles an hour. It was then rolled back into cruising position."

The kick in the tail was provided by the 100-pound thrust rocket mounted on the small end of the stubby craft, he said.

The craft, when it reaches the vicinity of the moon Saturday morning, is to be dropped into orbit around the moon—utilizing the same steering rocket.

Its prime goal is to scout several proposed landing spots for American astronauts, then make photographic maps of 99 per cent of the moon's hidden side. Scientists hoped the new pictures would help solve the ancient riddle of whether the lunar crust was formed by meteor impacts, volcanic action—or both.

Board Names School Aide At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Walter L. C. Bouve of West Mifflin, Pa., has been named principal at East Palestine High School, replacing Vincent Cooper who recently resigned to take an administrative post in Steubenville's school system.

Bouve, 46, has been a teacher at West Mifflin and holds a bachelor's and master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh, majoring in administration, history and guidance.

He is a graduate of Schenly High School at Pittsburgh and served 5½ years in the Navy during World War II.

The board of education has given him a two-year contract at $10,600.

He is married and has two children, Michelle Ann, 12, and Joel Lincoln, 4.

The family plans to move here shortly.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chief of naval operations says he plans to spend a lot of time working on the problem of keeping good officers in the Navy.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, 55, who took over his new job Tuesday, said improving educational opportunities and living conditions from Adm. David L.

Although Moorer didn't mention a pilot shortage in an interview Wednesday, he may have been alluding to the Navy's continuing pilot loss. Last year, 67 per cent of the naval aviators who left active duty were hired by the airlines at top salaries.

Earlier this year there was congressional testimony that the Navy was short 2,430 pilots but this week, Congress released Defense Department testimony to the effect that the shortage had been filled.

Moorer, an Alabama native, took over as chief of naval operations from AKDM. David L. MacDonald.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Dow Chemical Co. developed STP, the new hallucinatory drug popular with "hippies," says the Food and Drug Administration, but there was no solid information on how outsiders got the formula.

STP is considered four times more potent than LSD. About 4,000 tablets of STP showed up at a recent hippie gathering in San Francisco.

A Dow spokesman in Pittsburg, Calif., said the formula apparently was obtained from Dow's research center in Walnut Creek, Calif., part of the San Francisco bay area. He said the company has determined there are no shortages of the drug.

Like LSD, STP is considered dangerous by health officials when taken without medical supervision.

Store Identifies Missing Articles

LISBON — At least part of the miscellaneous merchandise found by a motorist Tuesday night along a township road near Columbiana came from Hills Department Store at the St. Clair Plaza.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said a store official came to the jail Wednesday and identified the new merchandise through store tags. The store had not had a burglary, he said.

There was no way to identify the used goods. The store official said they may have come from a Goodwill Industries receptacle outside the store. The pile contained purses, shoes, clothing and toys. He took everything — new and used — back to the store.

Clark said the project will provide 60 unemployed workers with seven week's training. The project will cost a total of $18,689. Training will be conducted at the Beaver County Hospital in Beaver.

Cards Attempt To Pull Away After Dumping Cubs

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lou Brock and Curt Flood turned off the electricity in Chicago while Pete Rose was switching on the power in Cincinnati.

Brock and Flood clicked for 11 hits between them as the St. Louis Cardinals dimmed Chicago pennant hopes Wednesday with a 4-2, 7-1 doubleheader sweep over the second-place Cubs.

The two victories mushroomed the Cards' National League lead to 5½ games — the biggest spread of the season.

Rose, meanwhile, became the eighth player in NL history to hit home runs from each side of the plate in a game as Cincinnati drubbed the fading Atlanta Braves 7-3.

The Reds' triumph lifted them within 2½ games of the Cubs while the Braves' fifth loss in their last six starts dropped them 10 games off St. Louis' pennant pace.

Willie Mays drove in three runs with a double and his 15th homer, leading fourth-place San Francisco past Pittsburgh 7-2; Houston downed the New York Mets 5-2 and Philadelphia shaded Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Brock slapped out six hits in the Cards' twin-bill sweep—four of them in the nightcap—and lifted his batting average to .291. Flood, who has 14 hits in 28 at bats since coming off the disabled list last Friday, contributed three singles in the opener and two more in the second game, bringing his average to .321.

Right-hander Dick Hughes and southpaw Steve Carlton put together successive complete games for the league leaders, scattering seven hits apiece, and brought their season marks to 10-3 and 10-6, respectively.

Brock drove in two runs with a second inning single in the opener, then doubled and scored the deciding run in the sixth.

In the third inning of the nightcap Brock and Flood beat out successive bunt singles, triggering a four-run burst.

Switch-hitting Rose started a five-run rally in the third inning at Cincinnati with a right-side homer off southpaw Denny Lemaster, then connected from the left side against reliever Cecil Upshaw in the eighth. Lee May's three-run homer was the big blow in the third-inning uprising.

Mickey Mantle is the all-time switch homer king, having connected from each side 10 times for the New York Yankees.

Mays hit his second homer in two games — after a month-long drought—following a first-inning single by Jesus Alou and drilled a run-scoring double after another Alou single in the Giants' five-run third.

Given the early lead, Gaylord Perry breezed to his eighth victory in 20 decisions. He allowed nine hits, but was backed by five double plays — one short of the league mark for a nine-inning game.

Ron Davis' RBI double snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth at Houston and keyed a three-run explosion that carried the Astros to their eighth victory in nine games. Davis also singled in the sixth, moved to third on a wild pitch and ground out, then scored the tying run on a passed ball.

Left-hander Mike Cuellar went the route for Houston and stopped the Mets on six hits for his 11th triumph against six losses.

The Phillies got by Los Angeles on a run-scoring single in the 10th by Rich Allen, whose ninth inning throwing error had enabled the Rodgers to tally the tying run.

Jim Bunning recorded his 11th victory, although tagged for 11 hits before giving way to Dick Farrell in the 10th.

Minnesota Beaten 5-4 By Senators

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief pitchers Casey Cox and Moe Drabowsky reaped the rewards of their profession, noted for its ups and downs. Fred Gladding, another bullpen specialist, couldn't stand the heat.

Cox pitched the top of the 11th inning against Minnesota Wednesday night and won his fifth game in six decisions when Washington broke a tie for a 5-4 victory in the bottom of the inning.

Drabowsky worked the ninth, with Baltimore trailing the Detroit Tigers 1-0 and notched his seventh victory against one loss when Brooks Robinson homered in the Oriole half of the inning for a 2-1 triumph and a doubleheader split. Detroit won the opener 4-2.

Gladding, 3-4 in relief, made his first start of the season for Detroit in the nightcap and was working on a five-hitter and a 1-0 lead through five innings.

But then he tired in the heat, the curse of many starting pitchers, and had to turn over the pitching chores to Pat Dobson. The rookie held the lead until Robinson's homer made him a loser and relegated Gladding's starting stint to the experience-only category.

Cleveland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City outslugged Boston 8-6 and California edged New York 5-4 in other American League action.

Hank Allen's two-out single sent home Ed Stroud, who had singled and stolen second, with the winning run for Washington which had blown a 4-0 lead.

Minnesota tied the game in the eighth when Rod Carew drove in a run with an infield hit, Tony Oliva one with a sacrifice fly, and Harmon Killebrew two with a single.

Al Worthington, who came out of the Minnesota bullpen, in the 11th inning, was tagged with the loss.

Consecutive homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash — Kaline's coming with a man on — in the first inning sparked Detroit to its first-game victory.

In the nightcap, consecutive singles by Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley and Jim Price gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead in the second inning, and the run stood up until Frank Robinson walked to open the ninth and Brooks followed with his homer.

Steve Hargan set down the league-leading White Sox on seven hits. He got all the offensive help he needed in the first inning when three singles and a throwing error produced two Indians runs.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer for the Tribe.

Mike Hershberger's double, Ted Kubiak's triple and Tim Talton's pinch single snapped a 6-6 tie in the eighth inning and gave Kansas City its victory. Boston had tied the score on Tony Conigliaro's sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Ken Harrelson homered and doubled in two runs for the Athletics. Mike Andrews hit a two-run homer for Boston.

New York took a 4-3 lead with two runs in the seventh, but the Angels pulled it out with two in the ninth on pinch hitter Roger Repoz' leadoff single, Jose Cardenal's triple and Woody Held's single.

Maybe Another 10-10 Tie In Offing

All-Stars Defensive Forces Loaded With Former Spartan, Irish Stars

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' offensive unit can't be blamed too much Friday night if they think they are participating in a replay of last year's 10-10 tie between Notre Dame and Michigan State.

The defensive line-up for the collegians in the 34th College All-Star football game at Soldier Field is crammed with former Irish and Spartan stars.

The front four—football parlance which means one ton of speed and toughness concentrating on the sudden immobilization of the man with the ball—is made up of Bubba Smith of Michigan State, Pete Duranko and Alan Page of Notre Dame and Nebraska's Carel Stith.

The linebacking corps is headed by State's George Webster and the Irish's Jim Lynch. Lynch is also the defensive signal-caller for the All-Stars, a job he handled at Notre Dame while leading the 1966 Irish to their first undefeated season in 13 years.

Smith, 6-foot-7 and 285 pounds, played defensive end in such a fashion at Michigan State that Baltimore selected him as No. 1 draft choice in the professional football draft.

Coach John Sauer has shifted Bubba to defensive tackle for the encounter with Green Bay and this move matches Smith with the formidable Jerry Kramer, the All-Pro Green Bay guard who has been moving big men around for the better part of 10 seasons.

Page, who anchored Notre Dame's line, will take his familiar right end position, but his college teammate Duranko switches from tackle to Bubba's spot at end.

Duranko should have little trouble adjusting to the position. He began his Notre Dame career as a fullback, moved to linebacker and finished his days at defensive tackle where he drew All-America notice.

Stith, at 6-foot-5 and 260 pounds, fills out the front four.

Lined up behind Smith will be Lynch, the 225-pound Maxwell Trophy winner and the second draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Standing behind Duranko will be Webster, whose size and speed made him the ideal "monster" back in college football. Webster is a vicious and sure tackler and an exceptional pass defender who will be counted on to help the deep backs thwart the packer aerial attack.

Gold Medal Total Reaches 96

Yankee Track Stars Add 5 More Pan-Am Victories

WINNIPEG (AP) — As a bystander heard "The Star-Spangled Banner" played once more at the University of Manitoba's track and field stadium, he said to Stan Wright: "Aren't you getting tired of this?"

"No, sir," replied the assistant U.S. track coach from Texas Southern University. "I can hear that played all day. You haven't seen or heard anything yet."

Whereupon the Yankee track and fieldsters won five more of the six finals Wednesday to run their total of gold medals to 20 in 22 events.

Then the U.S. forces swept two golds and two silvers in the yachting windup, delayed five hours by gusty winds and two thunderstorms, and another gold for the women's team foil fencing.

Since the young swimming and diving marvels of the United States captured 28 of the 33 golds in the record-breaking meet that ended Tuesday night, you really couldn't blame some of the non-Yanks from getting bored with it all.

On the medal scoreboard the United States has a huge bag of 96 golds, 53 silvers and 34 bronzes. Brazil is a far-trailing second in golds with nine (9-6-3) while host Canada is third in gold with eight and second in total medals with 70 (8-28-34).

The track and fielders take today off.

The big moment of the program will come in the evening when Harvard's undefeated eight-oared crew takes on Canada's unbeaten British Columbia eight and Argentina in one of the heats of the rowing program on Winnipeg's Red River Floodway.

Paraguay, Mexico and Cuba will compete in the other heat. The winners of each heat will qualify for Saturday's five-boat final. But the losers will meet in a repechage—second chance for losers—Friday with the first three also gaining the finals.

Pan-American records were broken in five of the six finals Wednesday but one of them — Wyomia Tyus' :23.7 time in the women's 200-meter dash — was not allowed because of an aiding wind. Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., nipped 100-meter winner Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles.

Van Nelson of Minneapolis became the first double gold medal winner in track by taking the 5,000-meter run in 13:47.4. He had won the 10,000 previously.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., captured the decathlon with 8,044 points; John Carlos, a New York native who runs for East Texas State, edged Jerry Bright of Oakland in the 200-meter sprint in :20.5; and fast-rising Wade Bell of Ogden, Utah, came up with a final burst to whip Bill Crothers, Canada's Olympic silver medalist, in the 800-meter nonrecord time of 1:49.2. Crothers was clocked in 1:49.9.

Cuba's Irene Martinez Tartabull broke the U.S.A. monopoly by winning the long jump with 20 feet, 9 inches, breaking the Pan-Am mark of 20-2 set by Willye White of Chicago in 1963. Willye also bettered her mark but had to settle for third with 20-3.

Flood Returns In Pink As Cards Sweep Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Curt Flood figures he's got a lot of catching up to do if the St. Louis Cardinals are going to win the National League pennant and the dandy center fielder is wasting no time.

Flood, who came off the disabled list last Friday, and teammate Lou Brock led a doubleheader assault against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday as the Cardinals recorded 4-2 and 7-1 victories to move 5½ games in front of the second-place Cubs.

Only 10 days ago the Cardinals and Cubs were tied for the league lead but St. Louis has since taken eight of nine games including five from the Cubs.

Flood has been a big factor in the surge and in the seven games he has played since recovering from an injured shoulder, he has collected 14 hits in 28 official at bats. He was a torrid 10-for-17 against the Cubs as the Cardinals won three of four.

"We got to win this thing and I've got a lot of catching up to do," said Flood, who has boosted his average 17 points to .321 since returning to the line-up.

"I feel we're going to win the pennant," he added, "but I guess that doesn't make me much of a prophet now that we're 5R in front."

Brock banged out six hits in the doubleheader sweep.

Flood, who has 14 hits in 28 at bats since coming off the disabled list last Friday, contributed three singles in the opener and two more in the second game, bringing his average to .321.

Right-hander Dick Hughes and southpaw Steve Carlton put together successive complete games for the league leaders, scattering seven hits apiece, and brought their season marks to 10-3 and 10-6, respectively.

Brock drove in two runs with a second inning single in the opener, then doubled and scored the deciding run in the sixth.

In the third inning of the nightcap Brock and Flood beat out successive bunt singles, triggering a four-run burst.

Switch-hitting Rose started a five-run rally in the third inning at Cincinnati with a right-side homer off southpaw Denny Lemaster, then connected from the left side against reliever Cecil Upshaw in the eighth. Lee May's three-run homer was the big blow in the third-inning uprising.

Mickey Mantle is the all-time switch homer king, having connected from each side 10 times for the New York Yankees.

Mays hit his second homer in two games — after a month-long drought—following a first-inning single by Jesus Alou and drilled a run-scoring double after another Alou single in the Giants' five-run third.

Given the early lead, Gaylord Perry breezed to his eighth victory in 20 decisions. He allowed nine hits, but was backed by five double plays — one short of the league mark for a nine-inning game.

Ron Davis' RBI double snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth at Houston and keyed a three-run explosion that carried the Astros to their eighth victory in nine games. Davis also singled in the sixth, moved to third on a wild pitch and ground out, then scored the tying run on a passed ball.

Left-hander Mike Cuellar went the route for Houston and stopped the Mets on six hits for his 11th triumph against six losses.

The Phillies got by Los Angeles on a run-scoring single in the 10th by Rich Allen, whose ninth inning throwing error had enabled the Rodgers to tally the tying run.

Jim Bunning recorded his 11th victory, although tagged for 11 hits before giving way to Dick Farrell in the 10th.

Minnesota Beaten 5-4 By Senators

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief pitchers Casey Cox and Moe Drabowsky reaped the rewards of their profession, noted for its ups and downs. Fred Gladding, another bullpen specialist, couldn't stand the heat.

Cox pitched the top of the 11th inning against Minnesota Wednesday night and won his fifth game in six decisions when Washington broke a tie for a 5-4 victory in the bottom of the inning.

Drabowsky worked the ninth, with Baltimore trailing the Detroit Tigers 1-0 and notched his seventh victory against one loss when Brooks Robinson homered in the Oriole half of the inning for a 2-1 triumph and a doubleheader split. Detroit won the opener 4-2.

Gladding, 3-4 in relief, made his first start of the season for Detroit in the nightcap and was working on a five-hitter and a 1-0 lead through five innings.

But then he tired in the heat, the curse of many starting pitchers, and had to turn over the pitching chores to Pat Dobson. The rookie held the lead until Robinson's homer made him a loser and relegated Gladding's starting stint to the experience-only category.

Cleveland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City outslugged Boston 8-6 and California edged New York 5-4 in other American League action.

Hank Allen's two-out single sent home Ed Stroud, who had singled and stolen second, with the winning run for Washington which had blown a 4-0 lead.

Minnesota tied the game in the eighth when Rod Carew drove in a run with an infield hit, Tony Oliva one with a sacrifice fly, and Harmon Killebrew two with a single.

Al Worthington, who came out of the Minnesota bullpen, in the 11th inning, was tagged with the loss.

Consecutive homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash — Kaline's coming with a man on — in the first inning sparked Detroit to its first-game victory.

In the nightcap, consecutive singles by Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley and Jim Price gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead in the second inning, and the run stood up until Frank Robinson walked to open the ninth and Brooks followed with his homer.

Steve Hargan set down the league-leading White Sox on seven hits. He got all the offensive help he needed in the first inning when three singles and a throwing error produced two Indians runs.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer for the Tribe.

Mike Hershberger's double, Ted Kubiak's triple and Tim Talton's pinch single snapped a 6-6 tie in the eighth inning and gave Kansas City its victory. Boston had tied the score on Tony Conigliaro's sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Ken Harrelson homered and doubled in two runs for the Athletics. Mike Andrews hit a two-run homer for Boston.

New York took a 4-3 lead with two runs in the seventh, but the Angels pulled it out with two in the ninth on pinch hitter Roger Repoz' leadoff single, Jose Cardenal's triple and Woody Held's single.

Maybe Another 10-10 Tie In Offing

All-Stars Defensive Forces Loaded With Former Spartan, Irish Stars

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' offensive unit can't be blamed too much Friday night if they think they are participating in a replay of last year's 10-10 tie between Notre Dame and Michigan State.

The defensive line-up for the collegians in the 34th College All-Star football game at Soldier Field is crammed with former Irish and Spartan stars.

The front four—football parlance which means one ton of speed and toughness concentrating on the sudden immobilization of the man with the ball—is made up of Bubba Smith of Michigan State, Pete Duranko and Alan Page of Notre Dame and Nebraska's Carel Stith.

The linebacking corps is headed by State's George Webster and the Irish's Jim Lynch. Lynch is also the defensive signal-caller for the All-Stars, a job he handled at Notre Dame while leading the 1966 Irish to their first undefeated season in 13 years.

Smith, 6-foot-7 and 285 pounds, played defensive end in such a fashion at Michigan State that Baltimore selected him as No. 1 draft choice in the professional football draft.

Coach John Sauer has shifted Bubba to defensive tackle for the encounter with Green Bay and this move matches Smith with the formidable Jerry Kramer, the All-Pro Green Bay guard who has been moving big men around for the better part of 10 seasons.

Page, who anchored Notre Dame's line, will take his familiar right end position, but his college teammate Duranko switches from tackle to Bubba's spot at end.

Duranko should have little trouble adjusting to the position. He began his Notre Dame career as a fullback, moved to linebacker and finished his days at defensive tackle where he drew All-America notice.

Stith, at 6-foot-5 and 260 pounds, fills out the front four.

Lined up behind Smith will be Lynch, the 225-pound Maxwell Trophy winner and the second draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Standing behind Duranko will be Webster, whose size and speed made him the ideal "monster" back in college football. Webster is a vicious and sure tackler and an exceptional pass defender who will be counted on to help the deep backs thwart the packer aerial attack.

Local Nine Opens Bid In Colt Play

The East Liverpool Colt League All-Stars will attempt to keep the Eastern Regional Colt championship here as they open their quest for a title today at 5:30 p. m. meeting Mon-Yough, at Colt Field.

Before East Liverpool and Mon-Yough played today, Warren, the defending Regional champ, was to face Ashtabula at 2 p. m.

If East Liverpool wins today, the local nine would meet Marietta Friday at 5:30 p. m. Friday at 2 p. m., the two losers of today's games meet.

The Mon-Yough team has won four straight contests to gain the Regional play. The Pennsylvania team from the Monessen area, disposed of Washington, Pa. and Allegheny-Kiski.

The out of towns, with the exception of Marietta were arriving this morning and will be quartered at the Travelers Hotel.

Warren won the championship a year ago defeating East Liverpool in the final game, 5-0.

Yankee Track Stars Add 5 More Pan-Am Victories

WINNIPEG (AP) — As a bystander heard "The Star-Spangled Banner" played once more at the University of Manitoba's track and field stadium, he said to Stan Wright: "Aren't you getting tired of this?"

"No, sir," replied the assistant U.S. track coach from Texas Southern University. "I can hear that played all day. You haven't seen or heard anything yet."

Whereupon the Yankee track and fieldsters won five more of the six finals Wednesday to run their total of gold medals to 20 in 22 events.

Then the U.S. forces swept two golds and two silvers in the yachting windup, delayed five hours by gusty winds and two thunderstorms, and another gold for the women's team foil fencing.

Since the young swimming and diving marvels of the United States captured 28 of the 33 golds in the record-breaking meet that ended Tuesday night, you really couldn't blame some of the non-Yanks from getting bored with it all.

On the medal scoreboard the United States has a huge bag of 96 golds, 53 silvers and 34 bronzes. Brazil is a far-trailing second in golds with nine (9-6-3) while host Canada is third in gold with eight and second in total medals with 70 (8-28-34).

The track and fielders take today off.

The big moment of the program will come in the evening when Harvard's undefeated eight-oared crew takes on Canada's unbeaten British Columbia eight and Argentina in one of the heats of the rowing program on Winnipeg's Red River Floodway.

Paraguay, Mexico and Cuba will compete in the other heat. The winners of each heat will qualify for Saturday's five-boat final. But the losers will meet in a repechage—second chance for losers—Friday with the first three also gaining the finals.

Pan-American records were broken in five of the six finals Wednesday but one of them — Wyomia Tyus' :23.7 time in the women's 200-meter dash — was not allowed because of an aiding wind. Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., nipped 100-meter winner Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles.

Van Nelson of Minneapolis became the first double gold medal winner in track by taking the 5,000-meter run in 13:47.4. He had won the 10,000 previously.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., captured the decathlon with 8,044 points; John Carlos, a New York native who runs for East Texas State, edged Jerry Bright of Oakland in the 200-meter sprint in :20.5; and fast-rising Wade Bell of Ogden, Utah, came up with a final burst to whip Bill Crothers, Canada's Olympic silver medalist, in the 800-meter nonrecord time of 1:49.2. Crothers was clocked in 1:49.9.

Cuba's Irene Martinez Tartabull broke the U.S.A. monopoly by winning the long jump with 20 feet, 9 inches, breaking the Pan-Am mark of 20-2 set by Willye White of Chicago in 1963. Willye also bettered her mark but had to settle for third with 20-3.

Flood Returns In Pink As Cards Sweep Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Curt Flood figures he's got a lot of catching up to do if the St. Louis Cardinals are going to win the National League pennant and the dandy center fielder is wasting no time.

Flood, who came off the disabled list last Friday, and teammate Lou Brock led a doubleheader assault against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday as the Cardinals recorded 4-2 and 7-1 victories to move 5½ games in front of the second-place Cubs.

Only 10 days ago the Cardinals and Cubs were tied for the league lead but St. Louis has since taken eight of nine games including five from the Cubs.

Flood has been a big factor in the surge and in the seven games he has played since recovering from an injured shoulder, he has collected 14 hits in 28 official at bats. He was a torrid 10-for-17 against the Cubs as the Cardinals won three of four.

"We got to win this thing and I've got a lot of catching up to do," said Flood, who has boosted his average 17 points to .321 since returning to the line-up.

"I feel we're going to win the pennant," he added, "but I guess that doesn't make me much of a prophet now that we're 5R in front."

Brock banged out six hits in the doubleheader sweep.

123 Remain In Publinx Golf Battle

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)— A fireman seems destined to win the Ohio Public Links Golf Championship.

Lalu Sabotin, the Warren fire captain who holds both the Ohio Amateur and Public Links titles, entered today's third round only two strokes off the pace.

But even if Sabotin should falter, there are a couple of fellow firemen ready and eager to answer the alarm.

Bob Lilko, 40-year-old father of five from Youngstown, held a share of the lead after 36 holes. And Leo Zampedro of Warren, who could easily have been the halfway leader, was tied with Sabotin at 145.

Lilko, who also sells insurance, shot a two-under-par 70 Wednesday and stood at 143, one under for 36 holes on the Auglaize Country Club's 6,374-yard layout.

Mike Zimmerman, a steady 21-year-old University of Dayton business major, carded a 71 Wednesday to go with an opening 72 for a share of the top spot.

But there was little breathing room. Only a stroke back were ageless Art Todd, the Columbus fees player who copped this tourney in 1959, and Ken Corliss of Sylvania, a University of Toledo sophomore. Todd shot a 70, Corliss 71.

Sabotin, who insists, "I can't put . . . I hate this game," showed his moxie after a miserable start. He duck-hoked a drive into a water hazard and took a double bogey six but bounced back with a 73 to stay in the battle.

"I still think I've got a good round coming," said Sabotin.

Zimmerman, who said he was putting well, is the brother of Bob Zimmerman, who has been a golf pro the last three years.

"I'd like to think I can make it as a pro but I know the competition is tough," said the young Daytonian who is the No. 1 man on the Flyer varsity.

The 26 - year-old Zampedro, who reached the National Public Links finals before bowing in 1965, really played in tough luck.

He came to the 18th hole needing a par to share the lead but suffered a double bogey six when he overshot the green and then needed three putts from 12 feet.

Tuesday's first round front runner at 70, Mike Parker of Paulding, had a rash of bogeys and skied to an 82.

Still in contention at 146 were Pat Kaylor and Hugh Farmer, both of Toledo, and Don Blair of Canton.

Four strokes off the pace at 147 were Phil Duplin of Louisville, Robert Santor of Youngstown, Walter Law of Dayton and Ken Von Ville of Columbus.

Included in the 148 group were Connie Ames of Canton, Ted Ray of Warren, Jim Musille of Mansfield and Bill Santor of Youngstown.

Tony Shorie of Canton, Winslow Curry of Mount Vernon and Joe Campana Sr. of Warren were among those at 149.

Columbus Ladies PGA Event Opens Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Carol Mann eyed the course with scrutiny and commented that it was "in very fine shape—much longer than when we were here two years ago."

Miss Mann was talking about the 6,300-yard par 72 course at the Walnut Hills Country Club, where the field tees off Friday in the third annual Columbus Ladies Professional Golf Association Tournament.

Miss Mann already has won three LPGA events this year and is the No. 2 money winner.

Also among the field in the 54-hole medal chase for the $17,500 added purse is Kathy Whitworth, leading LPGA money winner, and all-time money winner Mickey Wright.

Florists Tie For Lead In Colt League

Riverview Florists squeezed out a 7-6 victory over Maxim's to gain a tie with the Laywers in the second half play of the Colt League Wednesday.

The Florists came from behind for the victory. Maxim's broke a 5-5 tie with a run in the fifth inning but Riverview scored twice in the last of the sixth to post the victory.

Dan Cunningham was the winning pitcher and Hahlen the loser. Cunningham, Bill Montgomery and Jim Massey had two hits for the winners. Altomare and Riffle led the losers with two safeties. One of Altomare's hits was a triple.

Jane Lind Wins At Scioto Downs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jane Lind slipped out of the pack in the middle of the stretch and won the $2,000 pace at Scioto Downs Wednesday night, touring the mile in 2:04 3-5.

Owned by John Martin of Jackson, Ohio, and driven by Jim Mace, the 8-year-old mare that went to the post at 25-1, paid $56, $15.50 and $8.40.

The track was the victim of a freak accident when a cat found its way into an electrical substation, causing a short which led to a power blackout lasting more than an hour. Racing resumed with the fifth race.

The 8-3 daily double combination of Smart Cookie and My Leo paid $46.80.

Club Owners To Study Demands Of Players

CHICAGO (AP) — The American and National League baseball club owners will meet separately today to vote on team player limits and lighting standards at spring training parks but the main topic of conversation will be resolving demands of the Players Association.

All 20 clubs were represented Wednesday at joint summer meetings presided over by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

Eckert told newsmen after the meetings that the players' demands, presented to the team owners in a letter last week, were discussed at the conferences but he could not disclose the owners' decisions.

The commissioner said there were no votes taken on any subject Wednesday but he expected the leagues to vote separately today on several topics, including reducing the player roster from 28 to 25 at the start of the season instead of May 15, and the minimum lighting standards of parks where spring training is conducted.

Eckert did talk about one of the players' demands, an increase in the minimum annual salary from $8,000 to $12,000.

Eckert said the club owners' attitude was for a fair adjustment of salaries but a National League official said, "We don't consider $12,000 a fair salary."

Bristol Sounds Hopeful Again Following Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have been acting like a different ball club since the first of the month and Manager Dave Bristol is sounding hopeful again.

"Maybe we'll break out now and come on," the young manager said Wednesday night after the Reds whipped Atlanta 7-3 for the second time in a row.

"We showed real power. That of course, makes it easier on our pitchers."

The Reds led the National League early in the season, but dropped out of first place June 18 and have been floundering around since. Wednesday night's victory put them in third place, eight games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pete Rose hit two home runs —one righthanded and the other lefthanded—and Lee May drove in three runs with his eighth homer to power Cincinnati to victory. Milt Pappas, 10-7, gave up ten hits but only three runs before giving way to Ted Abernathy, who picked up his 16th save.

"I thought he had had it," Bristol said, explaining why he took out Pappas. "He gave it all he had. It was awful hot out there. We had a good lead and I wanted to take no chances."

The Reds were idle today. They start a three-game series with the Cardinals Friday night.

The Reds scored a run on two walks and Tommy Harper's double in the second inning, but Atlanta promptly tied the game on Felipe Alou's double and a single by Hank Aaron.

When the Reds came to bat again, they exploded for five runs and knocked starter Denny Lemaster out.

Golfers Tee Off Today In Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's glamor boys are determined to bring historic Beverly County Club to its knees in a par-busting siege as the $102,000 Western Open starts today.

The deceptive tree-locked 6,867-yard layout with a 36-35—71 standard has had some great moments in the past.

It was here in 1910 that Chick Evans became the only amateur ever to win the Western Open.

It was here in 1963 that Arnold Palmer defeated Julius Boros and Jack Knicklaus in a playoff for the Western Open crown after deadlocking at 280.

The old links has seen a lot. And now they are getting ready to try to beat her to death.

Weiskopf won the Western Amateur in 1963.

Billy Capser, seeking to become only the second player in 64 Westerns to win the title three straight times, predicted that it would take exceptional golf to win over the exacting Beverly course and a final 72-hole $20,000 first payoff could range from about 276 to 280.

Billy Maxwell sizzled with a 67 in the pro-am while Palmer and Tommy Aaron carded 68. Grouped at 69 were Casper, Tommy Bolt, Ken Still, Dean Refram, Gene Littler, Nicklaus, Mason Rudolph and Gay Brewer.

Clay Denied Permission To Leave U.S.

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court held Cassius Clay's passport today, limiting the former heavyweight champion's travel to within the United States.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham ordered Clay's passport surrendered Wednesday after denying the fighter's request to leave this country to participate in a boxing match in Japan.

Ingraham issued the order pending the outcome of Clay's appeal of a June 20 conviction for refusal to be inducted into the Army.

Clay, who claims he should be exempt from the draft because he is a Black Muslim minister named Muhammad Ali, was assessed a five-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine.

The World Boxing Association stripped Clay of his title when he refused induction and set up an eight-man elimination tournament to select a successor.

Ingraham, in denying the request and ordering the surrendering of the passport, said Clay has "shown a steady willingness to participate in antigovernment, antiwar activities."

Hayden C. Covington of New York, Clay's chief attorney, said there can be no appeal of Judge Ingraham's ruling.

Clay contends he has been boycotted in this country and that Japan is the only place in which he can fight. He said he needs money for alimony payments, lawyer's fees, and other expenses.

Bucs, Tribe Play Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians take a break tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates, a team they have more in common with these days than the club that just left town.

The Indians finished a three-game series against the American League-leading Chicago White Sox Wednesday night with a 5-1 victory. The Sox lead the league by 3½ games.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh, both in seventh place in their respective leagues, will play an exhibition sandlot benefit game. The Indians are 13 games behind Chicago and the Pirates trail the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals by 13½ games.

The Tribe's victory over Chicago, the fifth for Cleveland in the last 20 games, came on Steve Hargan's seven-hitter and 14 other assorted hits off four White Sox pitchers.

Hargan (11-8) struck out four and walked one for his second triumph in a row and 12th complete game.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer in the third inning, putting the Indians ahead, 4-1.

Three singles and a throwing error by Chicago starter Wilbur Wood gave the Indians a 2-0 lead in the first. Horton beat out a slow roller to Wood, scoring Chuck Hinton, and Wagner, who singled, scored when Wood threw wild to first base.

Larry Brown's single, a sacrifice and Hinton's single off Woods' foot accounted for another run in the second. Don Demeter singled home Max Alvis in the fifth.

Chicago scored in the third on Ron Hansen's double and a single by Wayne Causey.

Rams Top Saints By 16 To 7 Score

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams spoiled the debut of the New Orleans Saints into the National Football League with a 16-7 exhibition game victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium.

Gossett hit on placements from 14, 9, and 45 yards out to provide the difference as each team had a touchdown in the league's preseason opener before 26,364.

Although the Rams dominated the first half and built a 10-0 lead, the new Saints marched back with a stronger showing in the final period.

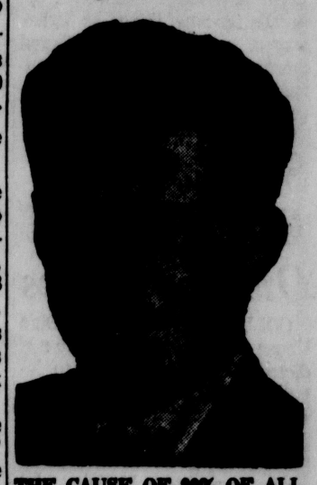
YOUR CAR

By Al Green



THE CAUSE OF 90% OF ALL AUTO wrecks is the driver, not any problem with the machine or other outside conditions. This finding from the Auto Club of Michigan. Tough to take the blame ourselves? Sure, but also easier to stay alive when we know we can prevent 90% of our own crashes just by being a safe driver!

ONE DETROIT AUTO MAKER IS studying a car design with the driver in the center. This helps frontal vision but cuts down side sight.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC IS MANUFACTURING an electric car. It was set to go on sale in June. A two passenger rig, it has a top speed of 25 mph and a range of 50 miles between chargings.

LOOKING FOR A CERTAIN USED CAR? Say a 1963 Pontiac, or a 1964 Bel Air, or a 1962 Plymouth? Chances are we have just the car you want, or we can find it for you quickly, here at M & A DODGE, 614 Broadway, East Liverpool. Visit our used car center and see!

TIRES WITH FIBERGLASS "BELT" construction are now in market testing. They combine a radial ply type "belt" under the tread with standard "ply" construction. The maker says it gives better stability and better road speeds along with smoother riding.

DRIVING YOUR CAR AFTER DRINKING alcoholic beverages is a serious legal and moral offense. Whether you are caught or not is a moot point.

Richmond Moves Near Lead In IL

For the third time in 10 days the Richmond Braves moved to within ½ game of league-leading Rochester as the Braves blanked the Buffalo Bisons 5-0 Wednesday night on pitcher Ron Reed's fifth shutout of the season.

In other International League games Wednesday night, Toledo beat Rochester 4-2 behind winning pitcher Tom Zimmerman, who was replaced after 6 1-3 innings by rookie Fred Lasher.

At Syracuse, the Columbus Jets edged the Syracuse Chiefs 2-1 as pitcher Jim Shellenback went the route for the Jets.

Columbus right fielder George Spriggs batted in both the Jets' runs with a two-out double into right-center field in the third inning.

123 Remain In Publinx Golf Battle

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)— A fireman seems destined to win the Ohio Public Links Golf Championship.

Lalu Sabotin, the Warren fire captain who holds both the Ohio Amateur and Public Links titles, entered today's third round only two strokes off the pace.

But even if Sabotin should falter, there are a couple of fellow firemen ready and eager to answer the alarm.

Bob Lilko, 40-year-old father of five from Youngstown, held a share of the lead after 36 holes. And Leo Zampedro of Warren, who could easily have been the halfway leader, was tied with Sabotin at 145.

Lilko, who also sells insurance, shot a two-under-par 70 Wednesday and stood at 143, one under for 36 holes on the Auglaize Country Club's 6,374-yard layout.

Mike Zimmerman, a steady 21-year-old University of Dayton business major, carded a 71 Wednesday to go with an opening 72 for a share of the top spot.

But there was little breathing room. Only a stroke back were ageless Art Todd, the Columbus fees player who copped this tourney in 1959, and Ken Corliss of Sylvania, a University of Toledo sophomore. Todd shot a 70, Corliss 71.

Sabotin, who insists, "I can't put . . . I hate this game," showed his moxie after a miserable start. He duck-hoked a drive into a water hazard and took a double bogey six but bounced back with a 73 to stay in the battle.

"I still think I've got a good round coming," said Sabotin.

Zimmerman, who said he was putting well, is the brother of Bob Zimmerman, who has been a golf pro the last three years.

"I'd like to think I can make it as a pro but I know the competition is tough," said the young Daytonian who is the No. 1 man on the Flyer varsity.

The 26 - year-old Zampedro, who reached the National Public Links finals before bowing in 1965, really played in tough luck.

He came to the 18th hole needing a par to share the lead but suffered a double bogey six when he overshot the green and then needed three putts from 12 feet.

Tuesday's first round front runner at 70, Mike Parker of Paulding, had a rash of bogeys and skied to an 82.

The field of 240 was reduced to 123 after Wednesday's cut with a 158 score needed to survive.

Still in contention at 146 were Pat Kaylor and Hugh Farmer, both of Toledo, and Don Blair of Canton.

Four strokes off the pace at 147 were Phil Duplin of Louisville, Robert Santor of Youngstown, Walter Law of Dayton and Ken Von Ville of Columbus.

Included in the 148 group were Connie Ames of Canton, Ted Ray of Warren, Jim Musille of Mansfield and Bill Santor of Youngstown.

Tony Shorie of Canton, Winslow Curry of Mount Vernon and Joe Campana Sr. of Warren were among those at 149.

Columbus Ladies PGA Event Opens Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Carol Mann eyed the course with scrutiny and commented that it was "in very fine shape—much longer than when we were here two years ago."

Miss Mann was talking about the 6,300-yard par 72 course at the Walnut Hills Country Club, where the field tees off Friday in the third annual Columbus Ladies Professional Golf Association Tournament.

Miss Mann already has won three LPGA events this year and is the No. 2 money winner.

Also among the field in the 54-hole medal chase for the $17,500 added purse is Kathy Whitworth, leading LPGA money winner, and all-time money winner Mickey Wright.

Jane Lind Wins At Scioto Downs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jane Lind slipped out of the pack in the middle of the stretch and won the $2,000 pace at Scioto Downs Wednesday night, touring the mile in 2:04 3-5.

Owned by John Martin of Jackson, Ohio, and driven by Jim Mace, the 8-year-old mare that went to the post at 25-1, paid $56, $15.50 and $8.40.

The track was the victim of a freak accident when a cat found its way into an electrical substation, causing a short which led to a power blackout lasting more than an hour. Racing resumed with the fifth race.

The 8-3 daily double combination of Smart Cookie and My Leo paid $46.80.

CHICAGO (AP)—Connie Capozzi of Middletown, Ohio, went into today's semifinal round of the National Girls 16-and-under Tennis Tournament facing Patty Ann Reese of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Miss Capozzi, the No. 3 seed, ousted Gene Shapiro of New Orleans, 6-4, 7-5 in Wednesday's quarterfinals. Miss Reese, last year's 14-and-under champion and seeded seventh, eliminated No. 1 seeded Pam Teegarden of Los Angeles, 7-5, 6-2, Wednesday.

Club Owners To Study Demands Of Players

CHICAGO (AP) — The American and National League baseball club owners will meet separately today to vote on team player limits and lighting standards at spring training parks but the main topic of conversation will be resolving demands of the Players Association.

All 20 clubs were represented Wednesday at joint summer meetings presided over by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

Eckert told newsmen after the meetings that the players' demands, presented to the team owners in a letter last week, were discussed at the conferences but he could not disclose the owners' decisions.

The commissioner said there were no votes taken on any subject Wednesday but he expected the leagues to vote separately today on several topics, including reducing the player roster from 28 to 25 at the start of the season instead of May 15, and the minimum lighting standards of parks where spring training is conducted.

Eckert did talk about one of the players' demands, an increase in the minimum annual salary from $8,000 to $12,000.

Eckert said the club owners' attitude was for a fair adjustment of salaries but a National League official said, "We don't consider $12,000 a fair salary."

Bristol Sounds Hopeful Again Following Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have been acting like a different ball club since the first of the month and Manager Dave Bristol is sounding hopeful again.

"Maybe we'll break out now and come on," the young manager said Wednesday night after the Reds whipped Atlanta 7-3 for the second time in a row.

"We showed real power. That of course, makes it easier on our pitchers."

The Reds led the National League early in the season, but dropped out of first place June 18 and have been floundering around since. Wednesday night's victory put them in third place, eight games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pete Rose hit two home runs —one righthanded and the other lefthanded—and Lee May drove in three runs with his eighth homer to power Cincinnati to victory. Milt Pappas, 10-7, gave up ten hits but only three runs before giving way to Ted Abernathy, who picked up his 16th save.

"I thought he had had it," Bristol said, explaining why he took out Pappas. "He gave it all he had. It was awful hot out there. We had a good lead and I wanted to take no chances."

The Reds were idle today. They start a three-game series with the Cardinals Friday night.

The Reds scored a run on two walks and Tommy Harper's double in the second inning, but Atlanta promptly tied the game on Felipe Alou's double and a single by Hank Aaron.

When the Reds came to bat again, they exploded for five runs and knocked starter Denny Lemaster out.

Rose started things with his seventh home run after one out. Vada Pinson followed with a single and scored on Tony Perez's triple off the left field scoreboard. Lemaster walked Deron Johnson and then May hit his eighth home run against the left field screen.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Kenny Washington, UCLA basketball player, is scheduled to arrive here Friday from Los Angeles. He is to play next season with the Royal IV team of Brussels.

Clay Denied Permission To Leave U.S.

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court held Cassius Clay's passport today, limiting the former heavyweight champion's travel to within the United States.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham ordered Clay's passport surrendered Wednesday after denying the fighter's request to leave this country to participate in a boxing match in Japan.

Ingraham issued the order pending the outcome of Clay's appeal of a June 20 conviction for refusal to be inducted into the Army.

Clay, who claims he should be exempt from the draft because he is a Black Muslim minister named Muhammad Ali, was assessed a five-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine.

The World Boxing Association stripped Clay of his title when he refused induction and set up an eight-man elimination tournament to select a successor.

Ingraham, in denying the request and ordering the surrendering of the passport, said Clay has "shown a steady willingness to participate in antigovernment, antiwar activities."

Hayden C. Covington of New York, Clay's chief attorney, said there can be no appeal of Judge Ingraham's ruling.

Clay contends he has been boycotted in this country and that Japan is the only place in which he can fight. He said he needs money for alimony payments, lawyer's fees, and other expenses.

2 Ohioans Qualify In Junior Golf Play

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two Ohio golfers were well off the pace but made the cutoff as the 36-hole qualifying play ended Wednesday in the 20th annual National Junior Golf Championship.

Allen Brooks of Medford, Ore., was the pacesetter with a 69-72—141.

Geoffery Hensley of Cincinnati qualified with a 77-77—154 while David Peterson of Cleveland shot a 78-80—158, the cutoff mark.

The Ohioans who failed to qualify were Tim Reardon, Worthington, 77-83—160; Bruce Beck, Parma, 80-81—161; Gene Monnett, Marion, 80-82 — 162, and Jay Moffitt, Worthington, 90-77—167.

Golfers Tee Off Today In Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's glamor boys are determined to bring historic Beverly County Club to its knees in a par-busting siege as the $102,000 Western Open starts today.

The deceptive tree-locked 6,867-yard layout with a 36-35—71 standard has had some great moments in the past.

It was here in 1910 that Chick Evans became the only amateur ever to win the Western Open.

It was here in 1963 that Arnold Palmer defeated Julius Boros and Jack Knicklaus in a playoff for the Western Open crown after deadlocking at 280.

The old links has seen a lot. And now they are getting ready to try to beat her to death.

The par-smashing signal was sounded Wednesday in the pro-am event when lanky Tom Weiskopf slammed a 31-33—64 to break the competitive course record of 65 first set by Tommy Armour in 1928.

Weiskopf won the Western Amateur in 1963.

Billy Capser, seeking to become only the second player in 64 Westerns to win the title three straight times, predicted that it would take exceptional golf to win over the exacting Beverly course and a final 72-hole $20,000 first payoff could range from about 276 to 280.

Billy Maxwell sizzled with a 67 in the pro-am while Palmer and Tommy Aaron carded 68. Grouped at 69 were Casper, Tommy Bolt, Ken Still, Dean Refram, Gene Littler, Nicklaus, Mason Rudolph and Gay Brewer.

Dane Advances In Tennis Play

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Torben Ulrich, a bearded, long-haired Dane, advanced Wednesday to the quarter-finals of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Ulrich, 38, defeated Richard Leach of Arcadia, Calif., 6-2, 6-3 and is the only nonseeded player among the eight left in the men's field.

In today's quarter-finals, Ulrich faces fifth-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill. an American Davis Cupper. Riessen whipped Richard Dell of Bethesda, Md. 6-3, 6-2.

Another quarter-final match pair Australians Owen Davidson and Bill Bowrey. Davidson walloped Bill Brown of Omaha, Neb., 6-3, 6-4 and Bowrey ousted Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., 10-8, 6-3.

Seventy-five gridders reported for drills when practice opened this week at Oak Glen High School, according to head coach Bob Starkey. West Virginia teams are permitted to start practice Aug. 1. Oak Glen's first game is Thursday, Aug. 31 at Newell Memorial Field against Weirton Madonna.

Principal Russell Slack announced that Salem had been added to the schedule after the sale of season tickets, but season ticket holders can pick up a ticket for the Salem game at the high school and receive the same seat.

Bucs, Tribe Play Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians take a break tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates, a team they have more in common with these days than the club that just left town.

The Indians finished a three-game series against the American League-leading Chicago White Sox Wednesday night with a 5-1 victory. The Sox lead the league by 3½ games.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh, both in seventh place in their respective leagues, will play an exhibition sandlot benefit game. The Indians are 13 games behind Chicago and the Pirates trail the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals by 13½ games.

The Tribe's victory over Chicago, the fifth for Cleveland in the last 20 games, came on Steve Hargan's seven-hitter and 14 other assorted hits off four White Sox pitchers.

Hargan (11-8) struck out four and walked one for his second triumph in a row and 12th complete game.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer in the third inning, putting the Indians ahead, 4-1.

Three singles and a throwing error by Chicago starter Wilbur Wood gave the Indians a 2-0 lead in the first. Horton beat out a slow roller to Wood, scoring Chuck Hinton, and Wagner, who singled, scored when Wood threw wild to first base.

Larry Brown's single, a sacrifice and Hinton's single off Woods' foot accounted for another run in the second. Don Demeter singled home Max Alvis in the fifth.

Chicago scored in the third on Ron Hansen's double and a single by Wayne Causey.

Rams Top Saints By 16 To 7 Score

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams spoiled the debut of the New Orleans Saints into the National Football League with a 16-7 exhibition game victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium.

Gossett hit on placements from 14, 9, and 45 yards out to provide the difference as each team had a touchdown in the league's preseason opener before 26,364.

Although the Rams dominated the first half and built a 10-0 lead, the new Saints marched back with a stronger showing in the final period.

YOUR CAR

By Al Green

THE CAUSE OF 90% OF ALL AUTO wrecks is the driver, not any problem with the machine or other outside conditions. This finding from the Auto Club of Michigan. Tough to take the blame ourselves? Sure, but also easier to stay alive when we know we can prevent 90% of our own crashes just by being a safe driver!

ONE DETROIT AUTO MAKER IS studying a car design with the driver in the center. This helps frontal vision but cuts down side sight.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC IS MANUFACTURING an electric car. It was set to go on sale in June. A two passenger rig, it has a top speed of 25 mph and a range of 50 miles between chargings.

TIRES WITH FIBERGLASS "BELT" construction are now in market testing. They combine a radial ply type "belt" under the tread with standard "ply" construction. The maker says it gives better stability and better road speeds along with smoother riding.

'No Strike,' Auto Union Figure Says

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers bargainer says the union will not strike to get profit sharing from the nation's automakers this year.

Douglas A. Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Wednesday the union had found rock-hard resistance to the idea from management and would wait until later to press its demands.

Profit sharing, or "equity sharing" as UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it, was a surprise demand when the union opened new contract negotiations July 10.

Reuther told Ford, Chrysler and General Motors that bargaining without including profit sharing was "primitive nonsense."

He said it was impossible to predict in 1967 what a worker's fair share of a company's earnings would be over a new three-year contract.

Fraser told a newsman Wednesday, however: "If profit sharing were the only issue, it would not be a strikable issue."

Pressed for explanation he said the newsmen could "reasonably draw the conclusion" there would be no strike over profit sharing this year.

But, he added, "it's a seed we've sown. We'll be back another year."

In recent days, there has been speculation whether Detroit's rioting would make a strike less likely in the auto industry when current three-year pacts run out Sept. 6.

The rioting last week left an estimated $500 million in property and related damage.

A Fire Department report shows 387 buildings were destroyed. In addition, many stores were looted bare, some factories were shut down and operations were disrupted at others because of a curfew, and new car sales virtually dried up.

Thousands of auto workers lost several days pay because of the shutdowns. Service industries were hard hit as workers remained home at official urging.

The Detroit News quoted a "veteran bargainer" Wednesday as saying, "There is no question that it will be more difficult for Reuther now to call a strike."

Labor experts point out that while Detroit and Michigan are the home of the Big Three automakers, only 250,000 of the industry's 750,000 employes are in metropolitan Detroit. The others are spread from New York to California.

A scaling down of demands for guaranteed annual income and other benefits could get Reuther into political difficulty within his union.

Union sources have pointed out that the rioting might have supplied Reuther with a new argument: that meeting his demands for such things as higher wages, earlier retirement and increased pensions would eliminate some of the causes of unrest such as unemployment.

Sunday Sales Bill May End On The Rocks

COLUMBUS, Ohio — An Ohio House Republican leader predicted Wednesday a bill to legalize Sunday statewide liquor sales is headed for the rocks.

The measure, pushed from the House government operations committee Tuesday by lawmakers from Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo and Youngstown, is expected to fizzle in the more rural - oriented rules committee, which assigns legislation for floor votes.

Observers see the bill falling at least six votes short of the majority needed in rules to hustle it onto the floor.

The proposal would permit liquor sales on Sunday from 1 p.m. to midnight. A special liquor permit for a fee of $2,500 would be issued to any holder of a regular liquor permit.

A local option vote could be called, but only after a liquor permit for Sunday sales is issued.

Legislation calling for a more conservative approach to Sunday sales — limiting sales to counties with more than 200,000 population, passed the Senate two years ago, 17-15, but went down the drain in the house, 75-50.

Convention bureaus in Ohio want Sunday sales to permit the state to compete with other states for national conventions. Their position has been supported in the past by Gov. James A. Rhodes. But the governor has not offered a public pronouncement on the pending legislation.

Tradition states that George Washington took command of the Continental Army under the Washington Elm at Cambridge, Mass.

'No Strike,' Auto Union Figure Says

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers bargainer says the union will not strike to get profit sharing from the nation's automakers this year.

Douglas A. Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Wednesday the union had found rock-hard resistance to the idea from management and would wait until later to press its demands.

Profit sharing, or "equity sharing" as UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it, was a surprise demand when the union opened new contract negotiations July 10.

Reuther told Ford, Chrysler and General Motors that bargaining without including profit sharing was "primitive nonsense."

He said it was impossible to predict in 1967 what a worker's fair share of a company's earnings would be over a new three-year contract.

Fraser told a newsman Wednesday, however: "If profit sharing were the only issue, it would not be a strikable issue."

Pressed for explanation he said the newsmen could "reasonably draw the conclusion" there would be no strike over profit sharing this year.

But, he added, "it's a seed we've sown. We'll be back another year."

In recent days, there has been speculation whether Detroit's rioting would make a strike less likely in the auto industry when current three-year pacts run out Sept. 6.

The rioting last week left an estimated $500 million in property and related damage.

A Fire Department report shows 387 buildings were destroyed. In addition, many stores were looted bare, some factories were shut down and operations were disrupted at others because of a curfew, and new car sales virtually dried up.

Labor experts point out that while Detroit and Michigan are the home of the Big Three automakers, only 250,000 of the industry's 750,000 employes are in metropolitan Detroit. The others are spread from New York to California.

A scaling down of demands for guaranteed annual income and other benefits could get Reuther into political difficulty within his union.

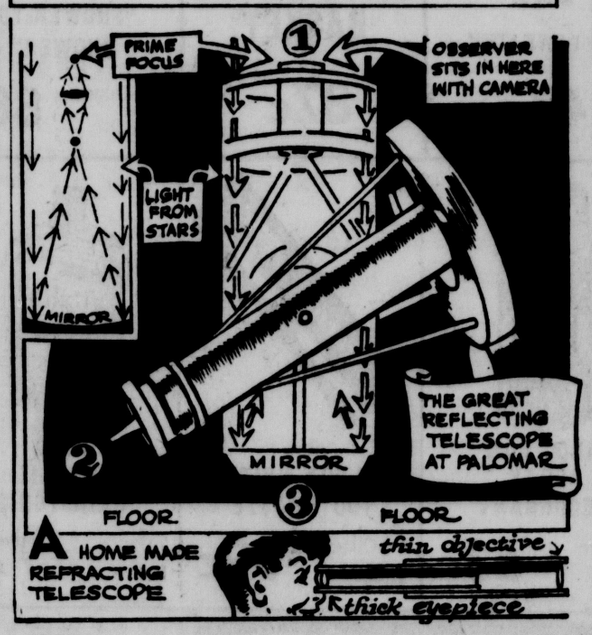
Junior Editors Quiz on TELESCOPES



QUESTION: What is the largest optical telescope and where is it?

ANSWER: If you can find two mailing tubes, one of which slides inside the other, and if you can get a small thick convex lens for an eyepiece and a thinner, larger one for the objective, you can make a telescope which works. The objective gathers the light rays; the eyepiece enlarges this image. This is the refracting kind of telescope. The largest refractor is at the Yerkes Observatory in Wisconsin. More light, however, may be gathered by using huge mirrors instead of objective lenses. The Hale telescope at the Palomar Observatory in California is the greatest of these reflecting telescopes, and it is the largest optical one. The huge mirror is 200 inches in diameter and is of glass, coated with aluminum. Our diagram at upper left shows how light from the stars comes down and is reflected up inside the tube, being magnified and coming to a point called the prime focus. In the larger picture you can see a cage at the prime focus inside of which the observer sits. There are other points of observation at (2) and (3). Observers take photographs rather than just look.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Aug. 3, the 215th day of 1967. There are 150 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1492, Christopher Columbus sailed from Spain — on a voyage that resulted in the discovery of America.

On this date:

In 1881, British troops occupied the Egyptian town of Suez.

In 1914, Germany declared war on France and Belgium.

In 1923, Vice President Calvin Coolidge took the presidential oath of office at Plymouth, after the death of President Warren G. Harding.

In 1951, 90 cadets were dismissed from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point for cheating.

In 1958, the atomic-powered U.S. submarine Nautilus made the first underwater crossing of the North Pole.

Ten years ago — A Tory reform leader in Britain, Lord Altrincham, was sharply critical of Queen Elizabeth and the other members of the Royal family.

One year ago — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield hinted that the Senate might investigate a boost in steel prices.

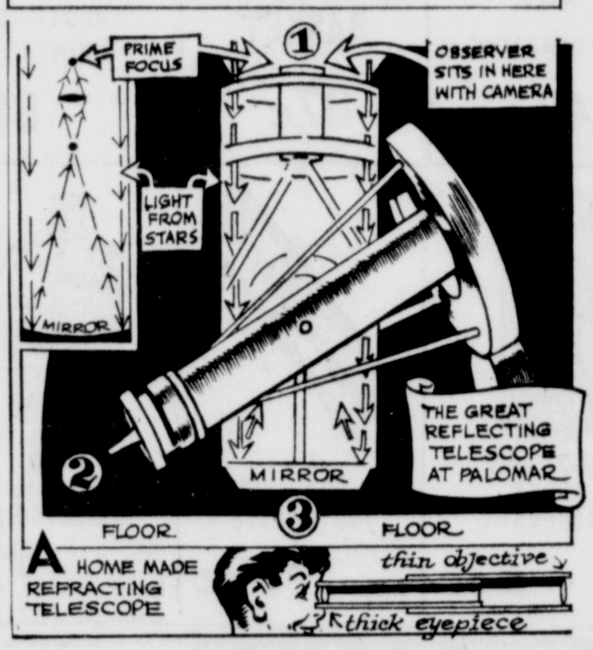
Junior Editors Quiz on TELESCOPES



QUESTION: What is the largest optical telescope and where is it?

ANSWER: If you can find two mailing tubes, one of which slides inside the other, and if you can get a small thick convex lens for an eyepiece and a thinner, larger one for the objective, you can make a telescope which works. The objective gathers the light rays; the eyepiece enlarges this image. This is the refracting kind of telescope. The largest refractor is at the Yerkes Observatory in Wisconsin. More light, however, may be gathered by using huge mirrors instead of objective lenses. The Hale telescope at the Palomar Observatory in California is the greatest of these reflecting telescopes, and it is the largest optical one. The huge mirror is 200 inches in diameter and is of glass, coated with aluminum. Our diagram at upper left shows how light from the stars comes down and is reflected up inside the tube, being magnified and coming to a point called the prime focus. In the larger picture you can see a cage at the prime focus inside of which the observer sits. There are other points of observation at (2) and (3). Observers take photographs rather than just look.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Aug. 3, the 215th day of 1967. There are 150 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1492, Christopher Columbus sailed from Spain — on a voyage that resulted in the discovery of America.

On this date:

In 1881, British troops occupied the Egyptian town of Suez.

In 1914, Germany declared war on France and Belgium.

In 1923, Vice President Calvin Coolidge took the presidential oath of office at Plymouth, after the death of President Warren G. Harding.

In 1951, 90 cadets were dismissed from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point for cheating.

In 1958, the atomic-powered U.S. submarine Nautilus made the first underwater crossing of the North Pole.

Ten years ago — A Tory reform leader in Britain, Lord Altrincham, was sharply critical of Queen Elizabeth and the other members of the Royal family.

Five years ago — Algerian Vice Premier Mohammed Ben Bella received an enthusiastic reception in Algiers after winning a month-long dispute over the leadership of that North African nation.

One year ago — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield hinted that the Senate might investigate a boost in steel prices.
